Man Dies As Train Hits Car

MOREHOUSE — C. D. Savage, 72, Morehouse, was killed early this morning in a car-train collision in Morehouse, the highway patrol said.

At 9:54 a.m. on Scott Street, a 1966 Plymouth traveling south driven by C. D. Savage drove onto a railroad crossing and was struck by a Missouri Pacific train going west, engineered by Charles Maupin, 60, Poplar Bluff, the patrol said.

The car was dragged approximately 115 feet, Morehouse Marshal Buddy McCain said.

The driver died at the Missouri Delta Community hospital, Sikeston, at 11:10 a.m. The body was taken to Watkins and Sons Funeral Home in Morehouse.

Red Korea Claims U.S. In Sea Duel

TOKYO (AP)—North Korea charged that the United States sent a number of armed ships, including a spy ship, into North Korean waters today. The North Koreans said they "dealt a decisive counter blow at the intruders."

The Korean Central News Agency also said the United States sent warplanes to the spot and fired more than 50 large shells at North Korean patrol boats. The broadcast said nothing about casualties or damage.

In Washington, the State Department said a report it received from Seoul described an incident—apparently the same one figuring in the North Korean accusations—as involving only Korean combatants on both sides.

According to this report, officials said, a South Korean fishing boat sailed into North Korean waters. The information did not make clear why it crossed over the line or whether the intrusion was accidental.

The fishing boat was approached by North Korean patrol vessels which pursued it into South Korean waters. At this point shore batteries in South Korea fired on the North Korean intruders which then sailed back to North Korea. There were no reports of casualties on either side.

The North Korean broadcast did not say how many ships or planes allegedly were involved or whether they were American or Korean. The North Koreans consider South Koreans armed forces part of "the U.S. imperialist aggressor forces," operating under U.S. command.

The broadcast charged that the ships intruded into North Korean waters east of Changan, about 15 miles north of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.

HOLIDAY SPIRITS FOR three Sikeston families were darkened Thursday when a faulty furnace is believed to have caused a fire at 415 Kendall St.

Faulty Furnace Blamed Christmas Eve Fire Leaves Three Families Homeless

A Christmas Eve fire in Sikeston left three families homeless in what Fire Chief Dolph Webb describes as "the worst fire we have fought since I have been here." Chief Webb has been serving since last year.

Firemen battled the three unit apartment house blaze at 415

Kendall for four hours before bringing it under control. The house was owned by Al Proffer.

Firemen received the initial fire alarm at 2:16 p.m. and worked for three hours. The building was "practically destroyed" and most of the contents were lost.

The Earl Evans family, Darrell Alsap and the Charles Brady family suffered partial or total losses to their possessions.

The fire apparently started when a faulty furnace in a room occupied by Alsap caught fire and spread to the remainder of the dwelling.

No injuries were reported.

After battling the blaze for three hours, firemen were again called when the fire re-ignited. A third call came at 6:45 p.m. and firemen remained on the scene for over an hour before finally arresting the fire.

All regular and volunteer firemen responded to the calls.

Soviet Death Sentence for Hijackers Widely Denounced

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Denunciations against the Soviet Union reverberated around the world today because of death sentences handed down in Leningrad against two Jews accused of planning to hijack a Soviet jetliner.

Throughout Israel, Jews demonstrated revulsion at the trial and at Moscow's refusal to let Soviet Jews emigrate to Israel.

Schoolchildren in Tel Aviv chanted "let my people go" before the Finnish Embassy, which handles Soviet affairs in Israel. Pupils in Haifa asked in a telegram to the White House that President Nixon intervene. The southern city of Eilat cabled Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles, Eilat's sister city, asking support for the condemned men. Even Rakah, the pro-Moscow Communist party of Israel, asked that the death sentences be modified. But it sent a letter to Soviet President Nikoia, Podgorny condemning an "anti-Soviet propaganda campaign" it said was being waged in Israel.

Premier Golda Meir told the Knesset, Israel's parliament, that the defendants' only crime was that "they dared approach the Soviet authorities to let them go to Israel." The defendants wanted to emigrate not as a protest against the Soviet government, she said, but because of a "national awakening ... for the right to join their own people."

Then the Knesset

unanimously adopted a resolution calling on "enlightened mankind" to intervene with the Kremlin to free the two defendants sentenced to death and the eight other Jews and one gentile tried with them.

Edward Kuznetsov and Mark Dymshits, who told the Leningrad court he had planned the escape to Finland for two years, were sentenced on Thursday to death by firing squads. Sentences for the others were from 4 to 15 years in labor camps. The defendants have a week to appeal the convictions.

In Washington, about 300 demonstrators burned a replica of the Soviet flag and chanted "Let my people go" and "Stop the kangaroo court now!" two blocks from the Soviet Embassy. An 11-man delegation was turned away at the embassy when it asked to express "our great concern and agony" over the trial.

In New York, the women's Zionist organization Hadasah urged in a statement that the Russian Federation Supreme Court "let these people go" and the Soviet government not to "add to the list of martyrs by yet another cynical miscarriage of justice."

Seymour Graubard, national chairman of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, messaged the Soviet ambassador to the United States, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, for permission to file a brief with the high court in their behalf.

The World Jewish Congress called the death sentences "incredibly harsh and repugnant" and said in London that an international Jewish delegation was meeting with Vatican officials to enlist the aid of Pope Paul VI.

Eighth Olathe GI Day Late For Christmas

OLATHE, Kan. (AP)—Seven Olathe servicemen made it home from Vietnam for Christmas—barely.

Eighteen days after the community of 18,000 launched a drive to bring all its eligible servicemen back for the holidays, a private jet landed at Kansas City Municipal Airport. The time was 11:55 p.m. CST Christmas Day.

An eighth member of the group arrived on a commercial flight early today. The chartered plane could accommodate only seven.

Hanoi Claims Christmas Privileges Given POWs

SAIGON (AP)—A U.S. congressman said today that North Vietnamese officials had told him American prisoners of war are allowed to participate in sports and were given special privileges this Christmas season.

Rep. G. V. (Sonny) Montgomery, D-Miss., told a news conference that he met two days this week with high-ranking officials of the North Vietnamese embassy in Vientiane, Laos, including the charge d'affaires.

The congressman talked with newsmen as he wound up a week-long tour of Southeast Asia.

Montgomery, a member of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, said he went to Vientiane to meet with the North Vietnamese "as a private citizen" but that they accepted him as a government official. He did not say whether he will make an official report on his trip when he gets back to Washington.

"Probably the most significant thing that came out of my meetings for two days is that they did meet with an American government official, and the highest ranking official they've ever met in that embassy," Montgomery said. "This is significant in that I generally supported President Nixon's policy in Southeast Asia and I am generally classified somewhat as a hawk."

He said he gave the North Vietnamese three concrete proposals:

1. That he be given any information on American prisoners of war that has not been released in Paris.

2. That he be admitted to Hanoi and be allowed to meet with American prisoners.

3. That two to six Americans be released in his custody and flown to Vientiane.

"I did not get a flat answer that I could not come to Hanoi to meet with the prisoners," Montgomery said. "I was given the answer on my third request—that Americans be released—that this would be referred to Hanoi. On my request for information on the 1,500 men classified as missing, I was told that would be referred to Hanoi."

Montgomery said the North Vietnamese told him that "the prisoners are being treated very well. They strictly denied that Americans died from malnutrition—the 20 they had reported dead in North Vietnam."

"They said they died of natural disease, that North Vietnam had some of the greatest surgical procedure. I took notes, and they said, and I'm reading from the notes, that they died of natural disease. They said they died of diseases that were incurable and could not be treated."

"Of course, I probably should have followed up and ask if they were wounds."

No major military action was reported across South Vietnam today.

In Cambodia, a military spokesman said political infighting is increasing between the North Vietnamese and the Red Khmer, the Cambodian equivalent of the Viet Cong. Lt. Col. Am Rong said in Phnom Penh that 30 Cambodians who had been fighting with the Communists defected to the government side on Christmas Day and that more than 100 guerrillas had quit the Red

Khmers in southern Cambodia in the past week.

He also said a number of Cambodian guerrillas had surrendered during the past month in the Parrot's Beak section of Cambodia, but he gave no figures.

In South Vietnam, a 24-hour allied cease-fire ended Friday night but a 72-hour Viet Cong truce was scheduled to run until 1 a.m. Sunday, Saigon time.

The U.S. Command reported 26 "enemy-initiated incidents" against American forces during the 24-hour allied Christmas cease-fire, with four U.S. troops wounded. Last year there were 35 incidents against U.S. troops during the allied cease-fire, and three Americans were wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 52 incidents against its forces during the truce, compared with 55 a year ago. In a revised casualty summary, headquarters said 13 Vietnamese were killed and 45 were wounded, compared with 14 killed and 23 wounded a year ago.

Driver Charged With DWI After Ramming Parked Car

Four were injured in area traffic accidents Christmas Day and today, the Highway Patrol reported.

Three miles north of Sikeston at 5:30 p.m. yesterday, a 1968 Camaro parked on the shoulder of I-55 facing south driven by Joe Wood, Jr., 30, Brinkley, Ark., was struck in the rear by a south bound 1961 Buick driven by Joe Glenn, 57, Cape Girardeau, the patrol said.

The driver of the Camaro suffered minor injuries. Glen was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and driving with a revoked license.

At 2:15 a.m. today on route N four miles south of Lutesville, a 1967 Mustang traveling West driven by Phillip Henry Debrock, 19, Leopold, went out of control, struck a dirt embankment, and overturned, the patrol said.

The driver suffered cuts and bruises. A passenger, Gregory Elfrink, 18, Cahokia, Ill., suffered cuts and bruises. Both were taken to Southeast

Missouri hospital, Cape Girardeau.

At 4:08 a.m. today on highway 84 in Hayti, a 1965 Pontiac driven by Kenneth Overby, 44, Hayti, failed to stop at a flashing railroad light and ran into a Frisco train 835, the patrol said.

The engineer is C. H. Duncan, 35, Chaffee.

The driver suffered severe head cuts and was taken to Pemiscot Memorial hospital, Hayti.

Inflation, Pay Hikes Eat up Hoped-for Peace Dividend

WASHINGTON (AP)—The so-called peace dividend, the billions of dollars the Nixon administration hoped could be channeled back into health and education programs when the Vietnam war wound down, has proved to be a myth in a wave of inflation.

There is no peace dividend, says Robert C. Moot, the Pentagon's comptroller. Inflation and pay raises have eaten most of it.

Moot said that at its peak in 1968 the Vietnam war was costing the Pentagon an added $20 billion a year, but by the end of the current fiscal year the figure will have been sliced to about $10 billion.

Even without a peace dividend, it would seem that defense spending could be reduced as the war comes to a close, and the men and the machines come home.

But that is not to be. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has already let it be known Pentagon spending will go up next year for the first time in three years.

In an interview, Moot offered an explanation for where the expected savings disappeared and why defense spending is heading up instead of down.

Over the past two years, some savings have already been plowed back into the economy, he says. This is the $5.2 billion resulting from the cut in the 1968 Pentagon budget of $78 billion to $71.8 billion in the current fiscal year.

Pay raises for military and civilian workers in the Defense Department make up another $4.6 billion of the $10 billion drop in war costs.

Piled on top of this was $300 million boost in military retirement pay.

With inflation driving up costs, Moot explains, the Pentagon as well as all other federal agencies, are paying more for the same goods and services purchased two years ago.

To keep spending to what

Laird says is the "rock-bottom" level and at the same time

finance modernization programs, he has trimmed military and civilian manpower rolls. The size of the armed forces has shrunk from 3.5 million when the Nixon administration took office to about 2.9 million today and will drop further to perhaps below 2.5 million.

Still, the pay raises combined with the impact of inflation, will force a reversal in the downward trend of the defense budget next year, Moot says.

When the President submits his new budget to Congress early next year, the Pentagon's share is expected to increase about $2 billion.

Moot says the emphasis in the new budget will be on more money for research and development to counter Soviet increases in this field, more money for modernization—new ships and planes—delayed by the war and to help offset the manpower cuts in the military services.

Baby Mauled to Death by Dog

CHENEQUA, Wis. (AP)—Keith Hale, 3-months-old, was mauled and killed by a pet dog today in his home.

He was lying on a davenport when he was attacked and bitten around the head by the malemute, one of two family dogs, the Waukesha County Sheriff's office said.

Mrs. and Mrs. Clifford Hale have five other children.

The sheriff's office said it was called to the home and destroyed the dog, which had been regarded as a gentle animal.

Highway Crews Move Snow

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Missouri's highway maintenance crews did not refuse to remove snow from roads Christmas Day because there wasn't enough to matter whether or not it was removed, an Operating Engineers union official said Friday.

Herman Jones, secretary and business manager of Operating Engineers Local 2, said last week the 1,700 of the state's 2,400 highway maintenance employees represented by his union would refuse to work when the first big snowfall of the winter comes.

Jones said union members are disgruntled because the state Highway Commission refused to implement a pay raise voted by the legislature for highway department employees.

"We want enough snow to make a difference whether the snow is removed or not," Jones said.

Jack Stapleton Sr., chairman of the Highway Commission, said last week he doubts the highway workers would refuse to work in a snow emergency.

Highway Toll Tops 200

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Accidents on the nation's highways killed 213 persons as many holiday travelers began their homeward journeys during the last two days of the Christmas holiday weekend.

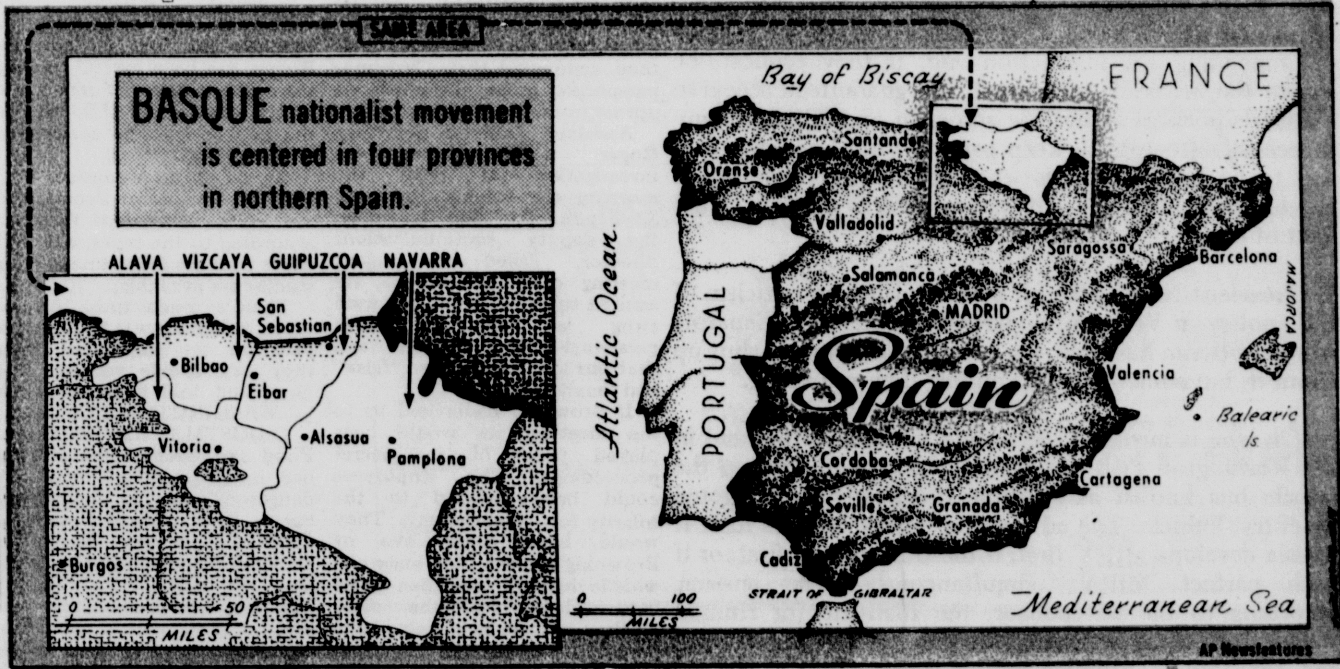

Snow and icy rain hampered driving over much of nation, especially in the Central Plains and from the Great Lakes region eastward to the mid-Atlantic states.

The traffic count runs from 6 p.m. Thursday to midnight Sunday, local time.

Basques Seek 'Land and Liberty'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The initials ETA remain a mystery to most average Spaniards, but present the government of Gen. Francisco Franco with perhaps the worst crisis in the ruler's 30-year reign.

ETA stands for Euzkadi Ta Askatasuna, meaning "Basque Land and Liberty." It is an organization of Basque activists which began in 1953 with the target separation from Spain and independence for the four Basque provinces in the northern part of the country. In the 1960s, it adopted terrorism and retaliation against police in an effort to gain its ends, contrasted with the means of the conservative Basque Nationalist party, in exile.

The showdown between the ETA and Franco came with the recent trial of 16 Basques, facing charges from banditry to terrorism and murder.

The court-martial touched off widespread strikes and was cited as the reason for the kidnapping of a West German diplomat by a group that claimed to belong to ETA.

The Basques, a race that was there when the Iberians came to Spain, live in all parts of the country. As a community, they center in four provinces —

Guipuzcoa, Vizcaya, Alava and Navarre—as well as in three French departments near the border.

Their culture is quite different from those of the Spaniards, with a unique language.

Although they represent less than 5 per cent of Spain's 33 million population, they enjoyed limited autonomy before Franco took power after the civil war ended in 1939.

But, over the years, cultural restrictions and the abolition of limited autonomy changed their mild nationalism to more active forms.

Their standard of living tends to be better than elsewhere in Spain and they have a reputation as great shepherders, eaters, drinkers and talkers.

The number of full-time urban guerrillas is estimated at 40 to 50 and sources say ETA has 500 part time members called "based militants" and "thousands and thousands of sympathizers."

ETA operates often near the provincial capitals of Bilbao and San Sebastian and supports itself principally by donation—and robbery.

Now, with the trial of the 16 separatists, the Basques seem to feel they are all on trial.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

Men forget favors of others, but remember those they grant.

Mr. John S. Reed, president of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway Company, has noted: "There is no doubt that some segments of the railroad industry are in trouble today. That trouble exists not because railroads are an anachronism, but rather because the rules of the game under which we are forced to operate are anachronistic. In a nutshell, we need the freedom to run our railroads much as any other businessman runs his business, without undue outside interference."

Ben Franklin said it: "Suspicion may be no fault, but showing it may be a great one."

Unanimity. In San Pablo, Calif., City Councilmen Ernest L. Wampler and Palmer S. Myhre signed petitions that would put their recall from office up for voting.

James T. Ownby, founder of the International Association of Characters, Auburn, Ala., remarks that an old timer is one who can remember when, at the holiday season, we counted our blessings instead of calories.

Also: People who give up an old habit usually put a new one in its place ... like they quit smoking and start bragging.

Have on, Jim! Can you imagine a creature so depraved as to have devoted a lifetime to gluttony, making with such quips as:

If I can't do it with knife and fork or in a rocking chair, I don't want it, or

I had some exercise once, and didn't think much of it.

Now he is down to 1,200 calories a day and abuses his meat-cleaver with boasts about the 40 pounds his healer meat-cleaver off him, with intimate details about cold sauerkraut, head lettuce without dressing, and such substitutes for rib-sticking provender?

Were it not for diet or grandchildren, some bores would be destitute for conversation material.

Arthur Ziegenhorn says "When a man tells you it's not the money, but the principal of the thing -- it's the money."

The following letter to Life Lines makes a lot of sense. It is from Henry Grote of Phoenix, Ariz.: "Why have the un-American liberals prevented our military commanders from winning the war in Vietnam, just like they did in Korea ... by placing restrictions on them? Only a short time ago, this liberal group stated that if we would stop bombing North Vietnam the Viet Cong would seek peace. Now they say we must withdraw our forces from Vietnam." Henry, they are like the Marxists -- they keep making demands and are never satisfied.

The "humanist" (godless) sex program of SIECUS (Sex Information and Education Council of the United States) is a tireless one, having had its platform riddled in California, Oklahoma, Louisiana and portions of Texas, but it has been buoyed by pro-SIECUS articles in left-wing magazines such as Life, Look, Redbook. So what is it doing now? According to California Families United (CFU), SIECUS has hired "a most expensive public relations firm, Ruder and Finn, to promote Family Life and Sex Education." CFS says a rash of pro-SIECUS articles is expected. California, by the way, has a new law to take effect in November, aimed specifically at SIECUS' family life education (humanist and godless and amoral). The law gives parents the right to withdraw their children from sex classes in which "reproductive organs and their functions and processes are described, illustrated or discussed ..." Parents must also be warned of impending sex instruction and, if they request, be shown the materials to be used. The guaranteed access to materials portion of the law zeroes in on SIECUS' many successful attempts to keep parents from knowing what was to be taught. This is what has bothered parents so much about SIECUS -- it has refused to operate in the light of day.

President Nixon asks for a moratorium on criticism of U.S. policy in Vietnam, apparently referring to Senators whose criticism has been, ah, caustic. They would shut up about it, but someone keeps pulling their red string.

Oh woe is mankind, according to an advertisement in the Washington Post concerning the race to develop the missile bus known as Multiple Independently Targeted Re-entry Vehicle. The ad says the MIRV race is lost: if Russia develops MIRV first; if the U.S. does so first; or if both perfect MIRV simultaneously. The answer, according to the ad sponsor, the Institute for Human Values, Inc., is for neither country to develop the weapon and for both to promise not to do so. This means we have to trust Brezhnev & Kosygin, which is a good thing to do if you forget Czechoslovakia, all those other agreements the Russians have broken, and the millions of people who have been liquidated by Communists since 1917. It's almost as if Kosygin & Brezhnev had paid for the ad themselves. Printed with the ad was an anti-MIRV story from Saturday Review of the Norton Simon, Inc., corral of super-left publications which includes Redbook and McCall's. The left is a suicidal ass which wants everyone else to be scragged along with it.

Peace, it's wonderful. People who are for peace are wonderful. Next time some peacenik talks about peace, ask him: "At what price?" Then tell him the Czechs have peace.

Speaking of super-leftish balderdash, did you know the only way to solve the problem in Vietnam is to get rid of Thieu and Ky and get a government "with which (the Communists) can live"? Arthur M. Cox of the blithering Brookings Institute says so. What he is doing is saying in a nice way what the Communists have been saying all along -- "Look, the Reds are going to take over South Vietnam, because the Americans don't want to win there, so why not just get out and let us take care of Thieu and Ky." Do you ever notice when the Soviet dupes talk, the Communists are always shown in a good light and no mention is ever made that the Communists are trying to take over South Vietnam and that the people who don't want to be Communist are evil? They did it to Chiang Kai-shek and we've been through all of this, oh so painfully, before. America is being had again, and the majority of us are letting the assassins get away with it.

Saul Alinsky is a radical and a professional rabble-rouser who tells special interest groups how to get federal help for their causes. So it was of some consequence when he said recently: "As for businessmen, I could persuade a capitalist on Friday to bankroll a revolution on Saturday that will bring him a profit on Sunday even though he will be executed on Monday." The question here is: Does Alinsky have a low regard for capitalists or do capitalists really know what's going on?

The Media: David Brinkley apparently doesn't approve of underground nuclear testing, inasmuch as he said during one of his editorials that the Atomic Energy Commission hadn't yet explained the reason for the test in the Aleutians "if there is a reason." Thanks, Dave, for that hard bit of "news." ... Like a broken record, the news was "Nixon still stands by the Haynsworth nomination" -- "The president will not back down on the Haynsworth matter" -- and so on. Was it news reporting or a political campaign?

The Jefferson Airplane is piloted by the Red Baron.

The Senate Judiciary Committee has been holding hearings on a subject of wide interest, the drug problem. Testifying has been the National Student Association, associations of chain drug stores and druggists, the attorney general of California and a Chicago police officer representing Mayor Daley.

You can become the possessor of an American flag that has been flown over the U.S. Capitol. According to The Elks Magazine, "All you have to do is write to your congressman for this favor, enclosing $3.15 for a 3 x 5 flag, or $6.00 for a 5x8." Congressmen report a growing demand from persons who have learned about this.

The latest score on the Social Security, inflation, taxation merry-go-round, as reported in U.S. News & World Report, shows the following: Effective January 1, Social Security "will be sweetened again" -- probably by about seven and one half per cent. It is said that minimum pensions may be raised to as high as $100 a month, all of which sounds fine. On the debit side of the ledger, however, the increase will mean something like this. The average employee earning $9,000 will pay $468 a year in Social Security tax in 1971, compared with $374 now. By 1980, his contribution will go up to $585. A person earning $12,000 a year as an employee will be taxed $624 next year in the name of Social Security, and $780 in 1980.

The question that remains unanswered is how far we can abandon the principle of self-reliance and still expect to retain the privilege of self-government and the liberties granted under it. Admittedly, this is an old and shopworn question. But, it remains just as pertinent today than ever before.

While you are "getting even" with a man in some vicious way, remember that he is probably doing the same thing with you. You can't kick anybody with impunity.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON--Our column reporting that the bosses of the radio-TV-publications empire sang songs, cracked bathroom jokes and roared with laughter as they conducted their Christmas personnel purge, created an uproar inside the Pentagon.

Assistant Defense Secretary Roger Kelley began an investigation at 8:30 the morning our column appeared. At 3 p.m., Col. Earl Browning, the deputy communications director, called an urgent meeting of his employees. He assured them that no songs were sung at the hush-hush personnel-budget sessions and that our allegations were "false" and "malicious."

If Browning had invited us to the meeting, we would have played tapes of the secret proceedings. The employees could have listened to the hilarity for themselves. They would have heard one of Browning's aides, for example, whistle happily and then burst irrepressibly into the field artillery anthem as he helped out people off the payroll.

Amid the merrymaking, communications czar John Broger's special assistant, Henry Valentino, suggested it would be easier to control the radio-TV-Film content by getting rid of civil service employees. Then, the work could be contracted out.

One official said Broger feared that private contractors would raise "problems involved with Senators, unions and everything else."

HANDLING THE UNION

The mention of unions brought a contemptuous snort from one colonel. He boasted how he gets his shop steward to tell him what the employees are doing and then takes careful notes on everything the steward reports. This was greeted with admiring comments from the others.

"I told (the shop steward), 'I don't want to hear anything (from the union) about how I'm going to run this place,'"

THE POWER TO DESTROY
The tonnage of publicity and news releases which comes into a newspaper office poses a weighty problem -- how to cull out the important and find the time to read it. One release we do inspect regularly is that of the National Small Business Association, perhaps because running a newspaper puts us in that small business category. The latest is an eye-opener.

In late April, the organization brought a labor lawyer to Washington to testify before the Senate Judiciary Committee. The spokesman was a man who has devoted almost 30 years to representing businessmen in labor relations, Robert H. Jones, of Albany, New York. He told the Committee that the National Labor Relations Board is imposing upon small business "enormous, unwarranted and unconscionable expense in exercising or defending legitimate employer rights" under the law.

NLRB abuses of power, he said, "adversely affect the employer's opportunity to prepare and present his case. In direct contrast, they discriminatorily indulge unions in extensions of preparatory and presentation time or excuse their violation of filing time limits ... They deny the employer effective protection against unfair labor practice which, particularly in the secondary boycott area, has become standard operating procedure in many unions."

They repeatedly offend the Act's and the Constitution's guarantees of employer free speech ... By violating settlement agreements for disposing of alleged unfair practice, Board procedures increasingly force the small businessman into litigation he cannot realistically afford."

Mr. Jones was specific. He cited case after case. For example: in one case the NLRB devoted six months to investigating a "vague and insufficient charge," then issued a complaint against the employer containing 18 allegations of unfair labor practice.

"At no time during the entire investigation, despite repeated requests by the respondents (employers) counsel did the General Counsel (of the NLRB) indicate ... in any way even the general nature of the facts charge!"

What happened? The case was settled without trial on terms which the respondents had been willing to concur in for more than a year. But the investigation alone cost the company more than $75,000 in executive time and legal expense, "most of which," said Jones, "could easily have been avoided had the General Counsel merely respected the Board's own rules and regulations ..."

Many small businesses could not survive that kind of expense -- or abuse. And none should Freaking Out: Bernardine Dohrn. Switches "Military Tactics": Orders Bombing Out, Street Fighting In.

NEW YORK: -- That red flame of today's dynamite-laden infant revolution, the elusive Bernardine Dohrn, appears to be flickering a bit. She's freaking out on bombing, according to her latest communique (signed by name and thumb print) from the underground "nation."

This American Passionaria has just told her comrades the time has come to abandon the explosives and come up for air, hit the streets, attack and confront and make it unsafe for President Nixon and Vice President Agnew to travel freely as they did during the past campaign.

She's not freaking out on violence, just bombs. The dialectic, as one would say during a rap session in some unwashed dilapidated commune -- or family or tribe -- now has it that bombing is "militarily" wrong for the revolution.

If true, this could put a dent in the mushrooming growth and building security growth industry. The communique may be misinformation. It may be the appeal of a young woman suddenly grown pragmatic. It may be a call to arms against other Weatherman factions.

All revolutions splinter and sliver. The Weatherman's revolt is no exception. Splinters, the old historians used to call them in the days of Olerites, Stamites, Clotiwites, Poumists, R.P.C. ers, (Revolutionary Policy Committee.) Nin-ists, Trotskyites (now suddenly affluent) et al.

But the cautious analysts among the federal authorities give credence to this latest communique by the woman who is the first truly American Communist revolutionary since Leninists held military and guerrilla drills in the Michigan woods some 50 years ago.

Her candor and studied caution, her razor-sharp analysis, her grim realism, her acknowledgement of the new movement's isolation from the mainstream of the new-generation youth and the labor movement, make her compoundedly dangerous. In head she's Leninist more than Maoist. In heart she's Maoist and Hoist. And always now loaded with capitalist cash.

For this newest of Passionarias, the "military" turning point came some nine months ago. In the movement's history it will be known as "The Townhouse." This is in reference to the ghastly explosion which destroyed a big brownstone (next door to Dustin Hoffman) on 11th Street in fashionable upper Greenwich Village here.

At least three Weathermen died making bombs -- Diana Oughton, Ted Gold and Terry

DEMOCRATS LOSING FACE

One of the most absurd stances in the world is that taken by the ostrich, which, at a time of crisis, is supposed to stick its head in the sand hoping the trouble will go away.

The ostrich, however, had nothing this week on the Missouri State Democratic Committee, which has done a perfect imitation of the head-in-the-sand attitude with its refusal to take any upright stand on Democratic State Treasurer William E. Robinson, recently indicted on a felony charge.

The committee's posture appears all the more strange in view of recent statements by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, who said the Democratic party would be better off if Robinson resigned as treasurer.

Hearnes, who also serves as Democratic national committeeman, said party leaders would like to see Robinson resign and fight the grand jury indictment as a private citizen. He said the party had been hurt by the scandal involving one of its top state leaders. The governor seems to have little clout as party counselor.

It is too soon to say just how badly the Democrats have been hurt by the Robinson mess. A complete diagnosis will come at the next election.

But there are strong indications that their wounds are deep. The overwhelming victory of Republican Christopher "Kit" Bond in the November race for State Auditor, in which he ousted long-time Democratic incumbent Haskell Holman, showed that Missouri voters are growing tired of those political office-holders who refuse to act responsibly in serving taxpayers' needs.

One wonders where the State Democratic Committee has been for the last few weeks. Its current attempt to avoid trouble by refusing to face it gives voters all the more reason to question the ability of the Democratic party to direct the state's affairs. The responsible conduct of government calls for facing up to problems.

THE TRAGIC BOMBERS
By Jenkin Lloyd Jones
THEIR pictures are going up in the post offices now-pictures of young faces, un-smiling. Some of them are grim and bitter. Some are the wide-eyed, bearing an expression of innocence. Most are stark police mug shots, but a few are obviously high school graduation photos, taken to be dotted upon by loving aunts.

These are the kids wanted for bombing. Or for the advocacy of bombing, and the gathering of explosives. A few are wanted for murder, where blasts took lives. Their ages run from 18 to 23.

THE rest of the rogues gallery looks just about as it has ever since Dr. Bertillon and Louis Daguerre combined the arts of fingerprinting and photography for mancatching.

The cold killers, the bank robbers, the forgers and con men exhibit the same mixtures of cruelty, stupidity, bravado and craft that have been and always will be the ingredients of professional crime.

THE kids are different-and more deadly. Their object is not the least offense necessary to accomplish an illegal purpose, which is the aim of the rational criminal. Rather, it is the most offense possible in order to create a nationwide terror. In this manner it is hoped to overthrow the existing social and political order.

This type of revolution by induced chaos requires two ingredients for success. One is either a broadly based public sympathy for the disrupters or at least a general public apathy. Second is a weak and disorganized government, incapable of effective counteraction.

There is no evidence that either condition prevails in the United States.

WHAT got these kids so far out on the limb? Barring some possible cases of real psychosis, a twisted mentality either spontaneously generated or induced by drugs, most of them started as eager members of the NOW generation. They saw what they conceived to be social injustice, some of it certainly genuine. They wanted it fixed NOW.

None of them is of the contemplative type, willing to weigh the distasteful difference between the ideal and the possible. They were not good at considering ways and means to a good end. They had a naive faith in reform-by-tantrum. So they joined the picket lines and waved their placards and participated in the riots and sit-ins. In most cases, the results, according to their lights, were inadequate.

SO, probably without realizing it, they drifted farther from the democratic process. They moved into the tight little corner that is the despairing self-justification for violence.

Although they did a lot of talking about "democracy" and bellowed "power to the people" they became steadily more alienated, more doctrinaire, more totalitarian. The people became their enemy.

Democracy was an evil because it impeded the control of those with the True Faith. The thing to do was to disrupt it, terrorize it and level it flat. Upon the wreckage could be built the New State.

It isn't going to work, of course. But there will be blasts, fired and deaths. They will increase. The technique of making bombs will improve. Not always will the makers be so ham-handed as to blow themselves up, as they did at the Manhattan bomb factory last summer.

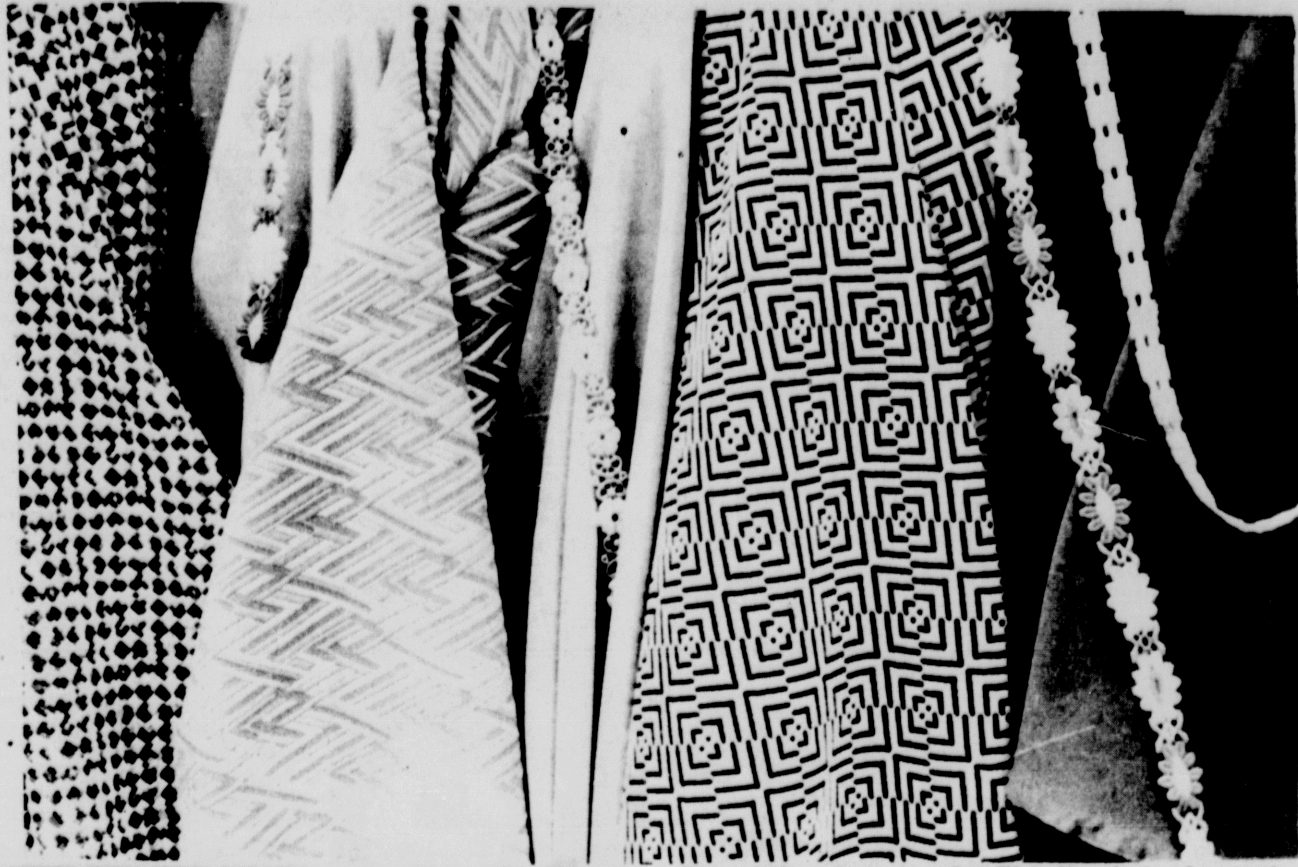

As they caught there may be a massive effort on the part of "antic" lawyers to create courtroom chaos and make judgments impossible. But this string, too, is fraying.

Even U.S. Supreme Court members, whose past decisions have overrestrained prosecution and overprotected the defense, now seem to understand that there is an assault on the whole judicial process in America.

RATHER, a year from now it is possible that there will be cause to worry about overreaction. If prosecution of bombing outrages develops leaden feet and, particularly, if innocent bystanders are killed there will be a movement toward verdicts by mob and justice by lamp-post.

So the kids will lose either way, just as terrorists who cannot find a base of public sympathy have always lost. All that they will accomplish is the rise of counterrepression to general applause.

THE next time you are in the post office look on their faces. Humorous faces. Fanatic faces. The faces of the most pathetic of all the damned-those who think they love the people, and cannot understand them.

Dear Ann Landers: You are so fascinating and it is also Dear Ann Landers: You are so frightening. I say, frightening because, without even trying, I could wring your neck.

Why is sex so important? It's a crying shame that the woman who was hungry for love and signed her letter "Too Late For Me" didn't find my husband before I did. She would have been the perfect mate for my Round-The-Clock Romeo. Sex would have cured her throbbing headache, her ulcer, her flu, pneumonia, hives, earache, backache, and bunions. Sex would have also solved all her emotional problems and taken her mind off her financial problems — if she didn't get pregnant again, that is.

Dear All: We'd make a peach of a pair. You've heard it all and I've read it all. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: I was happy to see the letter from the woman who wrote that she was sick and tired of getting turned down by her husband. He was always too tired, or too busy, or he had a headache, or he had to see the finish of the late, late movie on TV. I've been down that road, too—and I can tell you it's a lonesome one.

About 15 months ago I came right out and announced to my husband that he was pushing me into another man's arms. I told him flatly I was too young and healthy to live a sexless life. He thought I was talking through my hat, but he was mistaken. The very next week I took a lover. I have never been happier or felt better in my life. My body no longer aches to be kissed. I am fulfilled and content. It's a glorious feeling to be wanted and loved.

I hope every man who turns his wife down will wonder if she wrote this letter. Don't print my city or state—let 'em guess. —Fulfilled

The book was compiled by Amram Duconvy, a free-lance writer, and illustrated by Peter Green, who did the drawings for "The Wisdom of Spiro T. Agnew."

DUNKING RULE

The no dunking rule will be enforced this season by all officials in the state. It is the responsibility of the school administration and the coach to see that no dunking, grasping rim or basket, or other prohibited acts occur during the game. All officials are required to penalize and not overlook infractions when observed. We hope that administrators will accept this responsibility concerning the dunking rule.

OFFICIALS AUTHORITY

The game rules make it clear that the official is an authority at an athletic contest. This authority carries with it certain responsibilities that must be assumed by the official. Some of these are spelled out in the rules themselves. Others are just implied.

There are situations that arise during athletic contests that do not at the moment appear to be fully the responsibility of the official. An example is a possible error made by the scorer or time at a basketball game. The scorer and timer have responsibilities and should fully assume them. Manuals are provided the schools to make these clear.

Occasionally, a coach will "get out of line" during a contest in response to an error made by a scorer or timer. Some officials under these circumstances will give their attention only to what might be misconduct on the part of the coach. However, any time there is reason to believe that possible error might have occurred, or be in the making, the superior official will check to make certain that all is proper before proceeding with the game. This is an indirect, if not a direct responsibility of the referee. To avoid problems from arising officials are urged to be alert to possible protests that might result from an error by a timer or scorer. In such cases, it is recommended that the official use his authority and call a time-out and investigate and see whether such is the case.

Officials, too, should make every attempt to work cooperatively with school administrators. The fact that the MSHSAA Board of Control is exerting effort to see that officials are treated courteously also implies that it is a responsibility of the officials to be courteous toward coaches and school representatives. Only by mutual cooperation between officials and school representatives can we provide the best possible programs for the high school youth.

The use of proper officiating mechanics cannot be over-emphasized. The MSHSAA strongly urges all officials to follow the officiating procedures and mechanics contained in the Officials Manual for each sport.

These manuals contain the positions, duties, and proper mechanics and procedures for all sports. It is especially important for all new officials to study closely the information contained in the manual for their respective sport(s). Officials Manuals are published in basketball, football, wrestling, and baseball.

Another part of the officials responsibility is to be on time for the game. Plan to be there early. The time preceding the game can be used to confer with fellow officials. Go over some pertinent phases of the rules. Agree on a set of secret signals for announcing opinions concerning scores. Talk over the general plan of administering free throws, positions, touchdown plays, etc. Many of these items may be found in the Official Manuals for each sport.

In your attitude toward players and coaches, be kind and polite but firm. It is a big order and few officials ever fill it completely. But this is what it takes to become a good official. Be firm, but not overbearing. Be friendly to players but avoid "kidding" on the floor or field. Be dignified but never cocky.

Always strive to improve. The game of officiating has no place for an official who doesn't want to improve himself. Give attention to such factors as rules examinations grades, ratings received from schools, attendance at rules meetings, and the filing of special reports.

It is a responsibility that a person assumes as an MSHSAA official to work closely with member schools in the evaluation of their athletic programs. This is an important responsibility and one which all officials should take seriously as it serves as a vehicle through which the schools can improve the programs for their students. The program of evaluation will be used in all sports and consists of two types of reports, a school evaluation card and a special report form. We ask that each official weigh carefully the phases that are included on the front of the report for the school evaluation card. This form is to be used voluntarily to report to the principal or athletic director phases of the school's program which are in need of improvement. It is a responsibility of the official to report the phases that do need improvement to the proper authority. The official dodges his responsibility when he does not do this if he feels there are phases of the program that do need correction.

Jones Bogs

Pace Pros

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Jones boys are two of a kind ... and that's two too many for the Utah Stars.

Steve Jones hit two crucial baskets among his 25 points and Jimmy Jones pitched in 24 to pace the Memphis Pros to a 107-102 American Basketball Association victory over the Stars Friday night.

Steve Jones' two baskets in the last two minutes gave the Pros a six-point cushion at 101-95 and nailed down the game.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Virginia smashed Texas 145-131 and Pittsburgh clouted Carolina 136-121.

In the National Basketball Association, it was Phoenix 127, Atlanta 115; New York 115, Buffalo 102; Cincinnati 117, Cleveland 100; Baltimore 128, Chicago 112; Philadelphia 105, Detroit 100 and Los Angeles 123, Boston 113.

Zelmo Beaty, who scored 32 points, led Memphis to an early 10-point lead at 18-8, but the Stars rallied behind the Jones boys to tie it at 49 at the half. The lead changed hands several times before Steve Jones put the game out of reach.

Charlie Scott scored 29 points and Jim Eakins hit 22 and hauled in 19 rebounds to lead Virginia's runaway triumph that boosted the Squires' Eastern Division lead over Kentucky to a full game.

AWARD

Veteran Detroit Tigers outfielder Al Kaline has been voted the 1970 Hutch Award by major league baseball writers and broadcasters.

The award, sponsored by the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Scholarship Fund Inc., is voted to a major league player who best exemplifies the competitive instincts and character of the late Cincinnati Reds manager.

Hutchinson, who died of cancer in November 1964 while serving as the Reds' pilot, managed Kaline when he broke into the majors as an 18-year-old bonus rookie in 1953. Kaline, the youngest man ever to win the American League batting crown with a .340 mark in 1955, carries a lifetime hitting average of .298.

Kaline's closest competition in 1970 voting came from Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs.

McCOVEY TOPS

Willie McCovey's .612 slugging average was tops in the 1970 National League season, official statistics released today showed.

The San Francisco first baseman gained 303 total bases in 495 at-bats for the title, mainly because of his 39 home runs, 39 doubles and 2 triples.

The slugging average is computed by dividing the total bases a player gains on hits into the number of times he has been at bat.

McCovey's batting average was only .289.

Finishing behind McCovey in slugging were Tony Perez of Cincinnati at .589 and Johnny Bench of Cincinnati at .587.

Miscellaneous statistics, helpful in midwinter trivia contests, show that McCovey also drew the most walks, 137, and the most intentional walks, 40.

His Giant teammate Bobby Bonds led the league for the third straight year in the number of times struck by a pitch, 26.

Bonds also struck out the most times, 189, a major league record. But he also grounded into the fewest double plays, six, in a tie with Willie Davis of Los Angeles.

Cleon Jones of New York grounded into the most double plays, 26.

CHAPTER I

RULES DIFFERENCES FROM LAST EDITION and RECENT INTERPRETATIONS

1-5: A designated fourth lane space along the free throw lane has been added.

1-14: The placement of players benches along sideline is recommended.

2-8: Jurisdiction of officials starts 30 minutes before scheduled game time.

3-3: Prior to the start of the second half substitutions may be made to the scorer by either the substitute or team representatives.

3-4 Note: Solid colored shirts will be required beginning 1973-74 season.

4-4: Addition of a definition of boundary lines indicating inside edge of lines define inbounds and out of bounds areas.

4-8 Ques. 4: Legal to toss ball from hand to hand so long as foot movements do not exceed that of limitations while holding the ball.

4-13: A team's fore-court is now defined as that area of front-court other than mid-court.

4-27: Definition of a try is expanded and definition of act of shooting has been added.

5-9(a): Only one time-out may be charged for replacing injured player if it exceeds 1½ minutes.

6-14: Non-jumpers may not change position on restraining circle after official is ready to make toss.

9-1(b) (3): Neither offense nor defense may enter or leave four designated lane spaces once the ball has been placed at the disposal of the free thrower.

10-1(a): Television monitoring or replay equipment at courtside for coaching purposes is prohibited.

10-6(i): Dunking during practice, warm up or game prohibited.

10-9: Situations in which coach may legally leave bench enumerated.

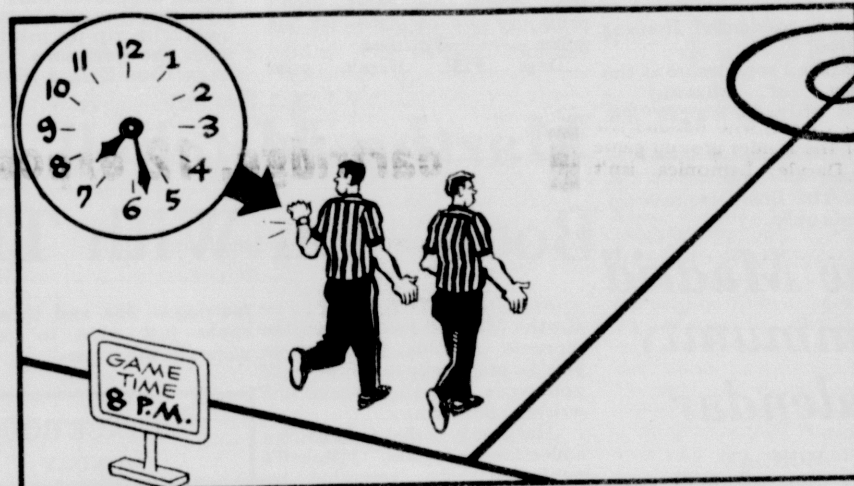

10-9 Penalty: Penalty for dunking prior to game or during game included.

10-9 Penalty: Third technical foul charged to any coach or any squad member or any bench personnel is considered flagrant and requires banishment.

10-10 Screener (d): Clarification of a moving screen.

COMMENTS ON THE RULES: Dunking violations in pre-game practice or warm-up are not permitted and shall be penalized. Officials jurisdiction starts 30 minutes prior to game time.

POINTS OF EMPHASIS: The Rules Committee uses each edition of the Rules Books to emphasize certain aspects of the game which need special attention. These are identified as Points of Emphasis. For the coming year, the areas designated are: Bench Decorum. Backing In Is Charging; Jump Balls; and Free-Throw Violation.

The officials' jurisdiction begins ½ hour before game time and continues through the referee's approval of the final score.

Substitutions prior to start of second half must be made prior to signal signifying end of the intermission and may be made by the substitute or a representative of his team from the bench.

Texas Keeps No. 1 Ranking

Darrell Royal's unbeaten Texas Longhorns, operating from an exciting pass-run option setup called the Wishbone T formation, averaged 41.2 points a game to become the nation's No. 1 college football team for the second straight year.

On the way to their third straight Southwest Conference title and seventh for their coach, the Orange and White from Austin ran their winning streak to 30 straight, highest at the moment.

Unbeaten Okio State was ranked second in the Associated Press regular season poll. The Buckeyes gave Woody Hayes, the robust coach who often wears thermal underwear beneath rolled up shirt sleeves, his fifth Big Ten championship in 20 seasons at Columbus. His seniors played in 28 games, winning all but one.

It was the year of the quarterback and fitting that two of the top passers, Jim Plunkett of Stanford and Joe Theismann of Notre Dame, should finish 1-2 for the Heisman Award, a trophy recognizing the nation's outstanding senior gridman. More than 900 voted.

Though Coach Jon Ralston's Indians dropped three of 11 games, the number permitted in 1970 because of economic conditions, Plunkett led the Cardinal and White to the Pacific

Eight championship and its first Rose Bowl appearance since 1952.

Plunkett, the kind of a drop back passer in demand by pro teams, set a total offense record of 7887 yards for three years. In 1970 he racked up 2898 yards. He accounted for 21 touchdowns, all but three of them via the airways.

Other outstanding quarterbacks were Bob Parker of Air Force, Rex Kern of Ohio State, Archie Manning of Mississippi, Pat Sullivan of Auburn, Brian Sipe of San Diego State, Dan Fouts of Oregon, John Reeves of Florida, Dennis Dummit of UCLA, Leo Hart of Duke, Indian Sonny Sixkiller of Washington and a few others.

Sixkiller, a sophomore, will bear watching the next two seasons for he led the nation in averaging 18.6 completions a game for a team with a 6-4 record.

Ed Marinaro, a Cornell junior, paced the rushers, averaging 158.3 yards a game while rushing for 12 of 14 TDs. Halfback Brian Bream of Air Force paced the scorers with 120 points, getting 19 of his 20 TDs via the rush. North Carolina's Don McCauley also scored 19 TD rushing and two more on pass catches. He had the nation's top rushing figure, 1720 yards.

MU A Surprise

By ROBERT MOORE Associated Press Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Kansas Coach Ted Owens expects trouble tonight when his Jayhawks meet Missouri in the second game of a doubleheader opening the Big Eight preseason basketball tournament.

"Missouri has a chance to be a lot better than a year ago," said Owens as he watched his team work out Friday night in Municipal Auditorium. "Their physical potential is better than a year ago. There are two teams here which have come along better than people thought — Missouri and Oklahoma State."

Okahoma, the defending champion, collides with Iowa State at 7 p.m., CST. Eight-ranked Kansas meets Missouri at 10 o'clock.

Kansas, Missouri, Iowa State and Oklahoma all used the auditorium floor in practice Friday. The other four clubs play Monday night when Oklahoma State, 4-4, battles Nebraska, 8-1, and Colorado, 4-2, tests Kansas State, 4-4.

Kansas is the favorite to win the tournament and the Big Eight title when the regular season opens.

The Jayhawks, 6-1, must face Oklahoma, 6-1, Nebraska, 8-1, if they get by the Tigers, 7-2.

Kansas has a powerful combination in Bud Stallworth and Roger Brown. Stallworth has an average of 22.1 points per game and Brown has an average of 13.3 rebounds a game plus a 14.1 scoring average.

"If we had beaten Louisville," Owens said, "I would say we would have the most impressive record coming into this tournament. I'm glad we've won as much as we have."

Asked if Kansas might be looking past Missouri, Owens replied:

"Oh, my, no." About Dave Robisch, who led the Big Eight in scoring last season, Owens said:

"Dave isn't playing anywhere near as good as he can play. The first two or three weeks of practice, he played the best I've seen him play. I can't explain what has happened."

Kansas scouted Missouri in its 94-75 loss to top-ranked UCLA Tuesday night.

"We thought it was a pretty even game," Owens said, "except for that stretch just before the half."

Owens plans to start Aubrey Nash tonight in place of Bob Kivisto.

Missouri's Henry Smith, a 6-foot-7 senior, may be a great player before the season ends. He is averaging nearly double his 12.6 point output of last season.

Tiger Coach Norm Stewart also has been getting a lot of mileage from Bob Allen, Mike Jeffries, Orv Salmon and Greg Flaker. He may start sophomore

John Brown against the Jayhawks. Brown, a 6-foot-7 giant, missed Missouri's first eight games because of a broken foot.

Owens said Oklahoma scored the most impressive victory of any Big Eight team this season when they edged Illinois.

The Sooners have tremendous balance with Bobby Jack, Scott Martin, Clifford Ray and Charles Hardin.

Iowa State, 2-6, will yield board strength to the Sooners but will stack up favorably in height. Jack DeVilder, the Cyclone captain, and three teammates were hit by stomach flu Friday but Coach Glen Anderson hopes they'll be ready tonight.

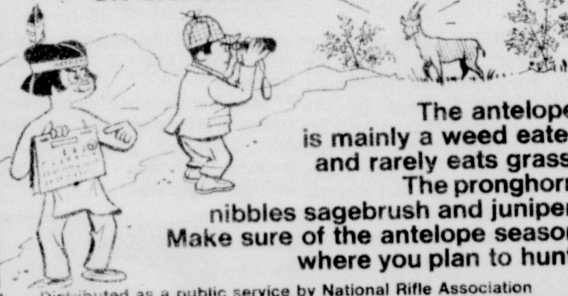

Besides DeVilder, the young Cyclones are led by Rick Engel and Gene Mack. Anderson said Iowa State is eliminating its mistakes and "starting to fit the pieces together."

Semifinals are scheduled Tuesday and the final Wednesday.

LAND BANK TO MAKE NEW KIND OF FARM LOAN

NEW OPEN-END FARM LOAN OFFERS A GUARANTEED LINE OF CREDIT FOR FARMERS

Hal F. Robertson, Manager of the Federal Land Bank Associations of Sikeston, Missouri announced the new loan plan locally today as being a breakthrough in long-term credit offered to farmers. This new loan plan is called the OPEN-END FARM LOAN. "We have all heard of OPEN-END loans," said Robertson, "but never before have OPEN-END FARM LOANS been offered to farm owners on a long-term basis with a guaranteed line of credit."

"We are expecting a great deal of interest by farmers in this new plan because of its need and simplicity. Essentially the plan is this. The association and land bank establish a maximum line of credit and obligate themselves to advance loans up to that maximum amount for periods of 5 or 10 years depending on whether the loan is written for 20 or 26 to 35 years."

"What are the advantages? Quite a few," says Robertson. "The way I see it, a farmer owning or buying land can benefit from this new OPEN-END FARM LOAN because (1) he will have a guaranteed line of credit, (2) he will be able to take advantage of opportunities for capital investments quickly, (3) he can plan his financing of capital needs over a given number of years, (4) he will have more flexibility in the use of long-term credit and (5) he can get his long-term money more quickly without the expense he would have to pay to get a new loan."

When will the new OPEN-END FARM LOAN be available? "Right now," said Robertson. Details of the OPEN-END FARM LOAN are available at the Federal Land Bank Loan Association of Sikeston, Missouri.

College Basketball Tournament

The merry round of holiday college basketball tournaments that have increased in popularity year by year during the last two decades, shifts into high gear tonight.

Seven major tournaments, in which five of the Top Ten in The Associated Press rankings are competing, lead off the action that reaches its peak next week with 21 more major extravaganzas listed to start, in addition to many minor ones.

Numerous holiday tournaments already have been held, such as the Jayhawk Classic, Lobo Invitational, Cornhusker Classic, Sun Bowl, Kentucky Invitational, Utah Classic, Vanderbilt Invitational, Volunteer Classic, Michigan Invitational, Mountaineer Classic, Bluebonnet Classic, Texas Classic, Cable Car Classic, Bayou Classic and Marshall Invitational.

With top-ranked UCLA and third-ranked Marquette awaiting the tipoff in the Steel Bowl and Milwaukee Classic next week, second-ranked South Carolina and fifth-ranked Pennsylvania top today's action.

Eighth-ranked Kansas takes on Missouri in the first round of the Big Eight at Kansas City. Ninth-ranked Drake opposes Canisius in the first round of the Queen City Classic at Buffalo, N.Y. and No. 10 Western Kentucky, fresh from Wednesday's upset of fourth-ranked Jacksonville, opposes St. Peters in another first rounder at the Holiday Festival.

Four teams in The AP Second Ten also see tourney action tonight.

No. 11 Indiana takes on Washington State and 17th-ranked Oregon opposes San Jose State in the first round of the Far West Classic at Portland, Ore. Villanova, 13th ranked, faces Illinois in the opening of the Rainbow Classic at Honolulu and No. 19 St. John's of New York plays Holy Cross in still another first rounder of the Holiday Festival.

The oldest holiday tournament of them all, the All-College at Oklahoma City, which started back in 1935, also gets under way tonight. Louisiana State is pitted against DePaul and Oklahoma City encounters Montana State.

THERE GOES THE BALL, and eventually the ballgame, as Ronnie Kierking of the Philadelphia 76ers comes flying by. Buffalo's George Wilson obviously could just cry about it.

Peaceful Afternoon

By Hal Beck
Associated Press Sports Writer

Four National Football League teams spent a peaceful afternoon today, lounging in front of television sets to watch four others bang heads as the conference playoffs got underway.

But the resting ends Sunday for the Miami Dolphins and Oakland Raiders, set to clash in an American Conference showdown on the West Coast, and the Minnesota Vikings and San Francisco 49ers, who'll be going against each other in a National Conference game at Minneapolis-St. Paul.

In today's games, Cincinnati played at Baltimore and Detroit was at Dallas as the NFL's Super Bowl countdown began. Conference championship games are scheduled for Jan. 3 with the winners advancing to the Jan. 17 Super Bowl at Miami.

The Dolphins, enjoying their first taste of post-season competition, would like nothing better than to be the host team for that Jan. 17 date in Miami. But to accomplish that, Miami will have to get past Oakland and its late-game lightning.

The Raiders strung together a streak of hairbreadth finishes to capture the Western Division crown, most of them accomplished with the aging but remarkably accurate toe of George Blanda in the middle of the heroics.

But the Dolphins figure they have a kicking match for Blanda in stumpy Gary Yepremian, the 5-foot-8 native of Cyprus who kicked 22 field goals this season and set a Miami club record with 97 points.

Larry Csonka, No. 2 rusher in the American Conference, gives Miami a power runner to balance the passing of quarterback Bob Griese. Csonka gained 874 yards - 13 more than Oakland's Hewitt Dixon, who handles the bulk of the Raider ground game when Daryle Lamonica isn't throwing.

Frigid weather - a normal climate for this time of year - was expected in Minnesota for the Vikings' clash with San Francisco.

The 49ers have the top quarterback in the National Conference in veteran John Brodie whose 24 touchdown passes were the best total in the NFL.

Brodie's top receiver is Gene Washington, whose 53 catches were fourth best in pro football this season. Ironically, the Vikings' No. 1 receiver is also named Gene Washington. Minnesota's Washington had 44 receptions.

MIAMI (AP) — Lynn Dickey gave the appearance of a Joe Namath with healthy knees.

Flashy white football shoes, long hair and an arm of gold.

"We hit them up the middle with passes," said the Kansas State quarterback. "Their linebackers didn't seem to react. So, we kept firing."

The handsome 6-foot-4 Dickey hit 14 of 27 passes for 180 yards and was named most valuable player in the North's 28-7 victory over the South in Friday's Shrine All-Star game.

It was the North's fifth straight success in the event.

"These are good athletes, all of them," said Dickey. "But, I think it was a case of the North having a little edge in major college talent."

All in all, it was a big day for the Big Eight Conference. Dickey, North Coach Vince Gibson and top Yank pass receiver Mike Montgomery are all from Kansas State.

Kansas runner John Riggins gained 96 yards in 20 carries and scored on romps of 13 and eight yards to far outflank the ball carriers from both sides.

Larry Brown of Kansas grabbed five passes for 24 yards and Otto Stowe of Iowa State caught four for 51 yards.

Every one of them represents the Big Eight.

"I'd say the difference was our quarterbacks," said Gibson. "My Kansas State boy, Dickey, did his usual fine job, but don't forget Ken Anderson pitched in with some good throwing, too."

Anderson, from tiny Augustana College, hit 8 of 20 for 77 yards.

Interceptions — six of them — were the South's bugaboo. Colorado's Jim Cooch was the peskiest defender, grabbing two.

Richmond quarterback Charlie Richards, who was playing for his college boss, Frank Jones of the Spiders, connected on 15 of 26 passes, but the scrambling Richards was intercepted four times.

Small college terror Jim Lindsey of Abilene Christian completed 5 of 11 for 62 yards in a brief appearance before the small crowd of 15,402.

A fat television contract that paid the sponsoring Shriners a record $110,000 turned the game into a profitable venture.

Sam Scarber backed up Riggins with 57 yards on the ground and the massive 231-pound runner tallied the North's first touchdown on a three-yard romp.

Trailing all the way, the South used its ground game infrequently.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Standridge
Hull-Standridge

Diane Kay Hull became the bride of Terry Allen Standridge December 11 in the Assembly of God church. The Rev. T. A. McDonough and the Rev. J. R. Hiekes performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hull of 712 Courtney Drive. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Standridge of 512 New Madrid.

Mrs. Bob Ballard was organist and Mrs. Dean Hull, vocal soloist, sang "A Wedding Prayer" and "Whither Thou Goest."

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was attended by Marsha Standridge, sister of the groom, Mrs. Terry Bryant, Marsha Newman of Oran, Gail Garrett and Junior bridesmaid, Marilyn Hull, sister of the bride.

The groom's attendants were Kenneth Standridge of Texas, Harvey and Jerald Hull, brothers of the bride, Larry Wilson and Larry Standridge, brother of the groom.

The couple will be at home at route two, Sikeston.

Heisserer-Allen

Mrs. Lavada Heisserer of Oran, announces the engagement of her daughter, Jean Ann, also the daughter of the late Cleophas Heisserer, to Julius Landrith Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Allen of Oran.

Miss Heisserer attended Oran High School and is a 1968 graduate of Southeast Missouri State College where her social sorority was Alpha Delta Pi. She is employed by the Bloomfield School District as an elementary counselor.

Allen attended Oran High School and Southeast Missouri State College. He is associated with American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

A May 29 wedding is being planned.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry W. Blunt

Clark-Blunt

NEW MADRID — The marriage of Miss Teresa Marlene Clark and Larry Wayne Blunt was solemnized Dec. 6 at 3 p.m. at the New Madrid Baptist Church, in a double ring ceremony with the Rev. Edward Wolfe officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Clark of New Madrid. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Blunt of Lilbourn are parents of the groom.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of bridal white roses with French fern.

Nuptial music was provided by Lester Allen Prescott of Jonesboro, Ark., organist, and Gary LaVander Clark, New Madrid, brother of the bride, who sang "Only You" and "With This Ring, I Thee Wed".

Mrs. Joe Munger of Granite City, Ill., was matron of honor. Miss Linda Blunt, Lilbourn, and Mrs. Larry Gardner, New Madrid, were bridesmaids.

Junior bridesmaids were Miss Tammy Clark and Miss Kimberly Clark, New Madrid, sisters of the bride.

Donnie Westmoreland, Lilbourn served the groom as best man. Groomsmen were Jerry Hogan, Lilbourn and Gary Clark.

Ushers were Danny Clark, brother of the bride, Joe Davis, Mark Baker and Ralph Horton, all of New Madrid.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the lower level of the church. Mrs. Don Lewis, Kennett, attended the guest book, and her daughter, Cindy, passed rice bags to the guests. Mrs. Joe Shanks, Matthews and Mrs. Jimmy Cravens, New Madrid served during the reception.

Following a wedding trip to Lake of the Ozarks, the couple is residing at Lilbourn.

The new Mrs. Blunt is secretary to the management of Comstock-Roper, sub-contractor and electrical division at St. Jude Industrial Park. Blunt is executive director of the New Madrid County ASCS office in New Madrid.

The wedding is to be February 26.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The engagement of President Nixon's elder daughter, Tricia, to a Harvard University law student will be announced sometime during the holidays, the Philadelphia Inquirer said today.

The newspaper said the prospective bridegroom is Edward Finch Cox, son of Army Col. and Mrs. Howard Ellis Cox of Manhattan and Westhampton, N.Y.

Both Miss Nixon and Cox are 24.

A source "close to the White House" was credited with the information.

The Inquirer said an anonymous White House spokesman would not confirm the report, but quoted him as saying: "I am not knocking it down. Everything points to it. It wouldn't surprise me."

Cox declined comment. Tricia's dates with the 6-foot-1 Princeton graduate have received considerable publicity.

Beverly Ingram
Ingram-Carney

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn F. Ingram of 704 Hickory Drive, Sikeston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Beverly Jo, to James D. Carney, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Dale Carney of Jefferson City.

Kinky Knits Are BIG

Designer Liesbeth Potter of Match II knows that the new beat of the youth market is toward kinky knits. Her gutsy tweed knits and soft plushy velours are a trend destined for fashion fame. The excitement starts with a dash of salt and pepper. Knit turtle and pants (left) make their own fashion statement. The top is long and lean, the pants straight and full. In plush chenille, zigzag shirt (right) with an easy, tailored look, matches tweedy knit chenille pants.

STYLISH KNIT-PICKING—Double knit cotton provides two fashionable ways to keep your knits about you comfortably this fall. Ideal for classroom or office wear is the long-sleeved dirndl dress with body-hugging shirt top and wide side belts that tie in back. At right, a chevron-patterned pantsuit with long fitted tunic jacket and flare pants with fly front. Both designed by Wayne Rogers for No Comment.

Roberta Rudisill
Rudisill-Husher

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rudisill of Matthews wish to announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Roberta to Jim Husher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade Husher of Sikeston.

Miss Rudisill is a senior at Matthews high school.

Husher is a 1966 graduate of Sikeston high school employed by Dale Vendors.

A June 5 wedding is planned.

Roussin-Hewitt

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Roussin of Overland, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Sue, to James Lee Hewitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hewitt of Morehouse.

Miss Roussin, a 1968 graduate of Risenour high school is a junior at Southeast Missouri State College in Cape Girardeau.

Hewitt graduated from Morehouse high school in 1966 and is a 1970 graduate of Southeast Missouri State College, Cape Girardeau, with a degree in industrial technology. He is a member of Tau Kappa epsilon social fraternity, and is serving in the United States Army at Fort Monmouth, N.J.

The wedding will take place on December 26 at Overland Baptist Church in St. Louis.

Brenda Estep
Estep-Long

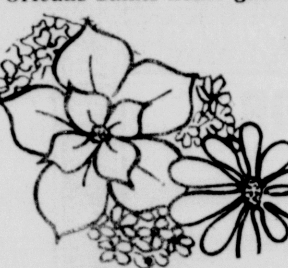

Miss Brenda Ann Estep and Steven Clay Long of the United States Navy are engaged and plan to be married January 16, 1971.

Miss Estep is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. James L. Estep of Morehouse. She is a 1970 graduate of Sikeston high school.

Long is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Long of Miner. He is a 1969 Sikeston graduate stationed at Newport, R. I.

Big Lake Fund at Three Fourths Mark

CHARLESTON — Paced by a gift of $500 from the City Council of East Prairie and the donation of 72 acres of land by the City of Charleston, the drive to raise funds for the proposed Big Lake recreation project reached approximately three-fourths of its $12,000 goal this week.

Marion Waggener and L.D. Davis Jr., co-chairmen of the fund-raising drive, said the advanced gifts portion of the campaign has just about concluded, and the committee is now asking for contributions from all interested persons in Mississippi County.

"We are counting on everyone — but particularly our country's fishermen and sportsmen — to contribute enough additional money to put the drive over the top."

The $12,000 will be used to purchase the rest of the 143-acre tract on which the State Conservation Commission will develop a permanent 110-acre fishing lake.

All gifts — small or large — will be welcome in the land purchase drive, the chairmen said.

Persons wishing to donate may send their check to Bill Russell, treasurer of the Mississippi County Recreation Association, or to Mr. Waggener of Mr. Davis.

The chairmen today released the following list of donors to the lake project, and asked that if anyone's name has been left off the list, that person should get in touch with either Waggener or Davis. Here are the contributors, as of Tuesday afternoon.

Power of Christmas Pierces Iron Curtain

VIENNA (UPI) — Christmas has won the battle with Communism in Eastern Europe.

While Stalin lived, Communist authorities in the Soviet bloc tried to replace the Christmas symbols of the birth of Christ with Russia's secular "Grandfather Frost." That attempt has been abandoned.

Instead, Christmas, 1970 was celebrated in Czechoslovakia, Poland and Hungary — the predominately Roman Catholic nations of Eastern Europe — in the traditional way, with all the trimmings.

Starting Dec. 24, official life in the three nations came to an almost complete halt.

State-owned radio stations turn off marches, turn on Christmas carols. State-run offices and factories close down to give all employees enough time to celebrate Christmas — although workers work extra shifts before and after the holiday to make up for the lost time.

In Romania and Bulgaria, the religious holiday is delayed until Jan. 6, because the predominant Eastern Orthodox Church still abides by the old pre-revolutionary calendar. Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Poland join the rest of the Christian world in celebrating on Dec. 25.

Christmas shopping in Eastern Europe is a bit more complicated than in the West. Although the consumer goods situation is improving, shops often have more customers than gifts and it may take many expeditions until all the presents are bought.

On Christmas Eve, decorated Christmas trees are lighted. Millions of children who are "Young Pioneers" or "Lening Youths" the rest of the year, wait anxiously for the slow tinkling of the bell calling them into the family living room to get their gifts.

It is not Santa Claus who brings the presents, but the Christ child himself — or Jezicek (little Jesus) as he is called in Czechoslovakia — who flies from house to house loading the tables with gifts.

All gifts are given on Christmas Eve, so there are no stockings to fill.

After the gifts, families gather for Christmas Eve dinner — a feast of fish soup, fried carp with French salad and vegetables, followed by many tiny cookies which mothers bake the week before.

Midnight mass always fills the churches with persons who do not go to church the rest of the year. In mountain regions such as Czechoslovakia's high Tatras, the faithful often must walk for miles through high snow to get to church.

Villagers in the Hungarian countryside stage costume plays depicting Christmases of long ago.

Christmas is a family affair in Eastern Europe. There is much visiting of friends and relatives. On Christmas Day itself, the tables are filled with goose or turkey, dumplings and cabbage, all washed down by wine and local liqueurs.

Nazarenes to Expand World Mission Work

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Church of the Nazarene plans to expand its world missions program next year into Indonesia, Ecuador and the Bahama Islands.

The Department of World Missions, in making the announcement, said the expansion will bring to 53 the number of nations or world areas in which the denomination has gospel work. More than 600 missionaries, teachers, doctors, nurses and builders are maintained abroad.

Plans are being made for the first Nazarene South America preachers' conference at Cordova, Argentine Nov. 22-26, 1971.

Church Built of One Redwood Tree Dedicated to Ripley

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP) — A century-old church built with the wood of a single redwood tree was dedicated Monday to the man who made it famous—Robert L. Ripley, the "Believe It or Not" cartoonist. The church will house Ripley's personal papers, articles, and memorabilia. The public opening is scheduled for April.

Ripley, who was born here in 1893 and died in 1948, told in one of his cartoons of the church built with 78,000 board feet from the single tree.

The POWER of FAITH

BY WOODI ISHMAEL

Joseph, husband of Mary, has always remained in the background. Yet he was obviously a man of great faith and strength, for he accepted the explanation of the virgin birth that an angel had given him in a dream.

Joseph was of the house of David. He was a carpenter and a practical man who worked with his hands. The problems of business then were probably no different than they are today. When the Roman taxes were levied on them this undoubtedly added another burden, for he was concerned about Mary, who was about to deliver the baby.

The long trip from Nazareth to Bethlehem was hard on Mary. This no doubt worried him. When they reached Bethlehem there was "no room in the inn." All he could find was a dilapidated dirty stable for the comfort of Mary and the baby Jesus. We can only surmise what went through his mind; maybe he felt that he had failed. Much is to be learned from Joseph, for with all his worries he accepted on faith all the bewildering events that led up to the birth of Jesus.

Rev. Hoffman In Vietnam For Christmas

SAIGON (AP) — The narrator of The Lutheran Hour radio program arrived in Saigon with 21,000 copies of a Palm Book he said was rewritten in the language of "modern man."

The paperback books and about 20,000 crosses will be distributed to GIs in Vietnam and Korea during the Christmas season, the Rev. Oswald Hoffmann told newsmen.

The Rev. Mr. Hoffmann, president of The Lutheran Council in the United States and a speaker on Lutheran Hour programs since 1955, was invited to spend the holidays in Vietnam by Gen. Creighton Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam.

The Palm Book, subtitled "Today's English Version," was published Dec. 1 by The American Bible Society. A statement by the society said it "joins the Society's best selling translation of the New Testament," which appeared in 1966.

The revised 61st Psalm has special meaning for the American servicemen overseas, the St. Louis clergyman added. It reads in part:

"Hear my cry, God; listen to my prayer! In my despair far from home, I call to You!"

"Take me to a safe refuge, because You are my protector, my strong defender against my enemies."

The book's version of the 58th Psalm might sound familiar to the ears of veterans of Vietnam combat. A prayer to God to punish the wicked, it says at one point that "in his fierce anger God will blow them away."

Entertainer Cancels Night Club Bookings

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Country and western singer Jerry Lee Lewis has canceled his night club bookings and will henceforth appear only at places where there is no dancing or liquor, an associate says.

Ray Brown of National Artists' Attractions said Thursday Lewis made the decision because of his religion. The singer is a member of the Church of God.

Unique Law Turns Frowns Into Smiles

MULBERRY, Fla. (AP) — There's a special kind of ordinance in Mulberry—one that usually leaves convicted offenders happy. The "Christmas Law" applies only once a year.

Six motorists from the North fumed and fussed and one even pleaded guilty before he heard about the annual law of Mulberry Friday.

Only after Municipal Court Judge Carl Ellis finished a stern-faced lecture did the motorists learn why Police Chief Norris Nixon had pulled them in.

The judge, who doubles as mayor of this west-central Florida community, told them that police work hard and don't like their efforts going without reward.

"Because you were going to drive through Mulberry without stopping at city hall," Judge Ellis said, "the policeman had to bring you in to receive this gift box of fruit. Merry Christmas!"

The one-day ordinance was passed four years ago, making it illegal for an out-of-state motorist to pass through Mulberry without stopping to pick up a gift from the police department — so long as the supply of fruit holds out.

"Naturally, everybody we pick up thinks immediately that they're about to be fleeced of their vacation money by a small town cop and judge," Chief Norris said.

"I pull them over, ask for their licenses and tell them to follow me to the police station. The fireworks start when I tell them they've broken the Mulberry Christmas law."

Norris and Ellis make no effort to dispel the impression of a speed trap. One driver replied "guilty" when Ellis asked for a plea—without telling the charge. The driver said he did it because he didn't believe there was a chance of beating a speed trap.

Coadjutor Bishop Selection Made

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Rev. Arthur Anton Vogel of Nashotah, Wis., was elected coadjutor bishop by a special convention of the Episcopal Diocese of West Missouri Sunday.

Father Vogel, 46, has been professor of theology and subdean of Nashotah seminary since 1952.

The Rt. Rev. Edward R. Welles, who plans to retire as bishop of the diocese in 1975, said Father Vogel would succeed him as bishop if he accepts the election and is approved for the position.

Nationwide Evangelistic Effort Shapes for '73

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Editor
Three years ago, a group of church leaders concerned about the lagging state of evangelism in America met at a motel just off the Key Bridge linking Arlington, Va., to the Georgetown section of Washington, D.C.

Ever since then, continuing talks in various sections of the country about the problem have been known as the "Key Bridge Consultations."

The bridge name, honoring the memory of Francis Scott Key, who wrote the Star-Spangled Banner, has now come to be the designation for what is planned as a nationwide effort in 1973, called "Key '73."

"We feel the right time has come for it," says the Rev. Dr. Theodore Raedeke, of St. Louis, newly named as executive director for the undertaking.

The decision to set up a national planning office in St. Louis, and the naming of Dr. Raedeke to head it beginning Jan. 1, was made at a meeting of leaders of more than 30 denominations there this month.

"Most of our largest denominations have committed themselves to this new venture," Dr. Raedeke says. "We feel that a coordinated, concerted focus on evangelism is long overdue."

In keeping the name, "Key," for the effort, a spokesman noted that the writer of the national anthem himself had elements some feel strongly that the starting hundreds of Sunday schools and other Christian work straightforward proclamation has been neglected.

Pope Raps Corrosive Criticism In Western Intellectual Centers

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has denounced intellectual centers in the West which he said aim "corrosive criticism" at the traditions of the Roman Catholic Church.

Making his annual Christmas address to cardinals stationed in Rome and other prelates of the Vatican Curia, the pontiff also denounced war and "regrettable political situations" in many countries and deplored Italy's new divorce law.

The Pope announced that his next synod of bishops in September will discuss the priesthood and "justice in the world."

He denounced "the movement of corrosive criticism towards the institutional Church, spreading from not a few intellectual centers of the West—not excluding America—into ecclesial public opinion, especially among the young, a frame of mind that dissolves the certainty of faith and breaks down the organic body of ecclesial charity."

He said that these challenges to the Church "weigh heavily on our heart" and "priestly defections gave him 'an oppressive sense of sad wonder.'"

The Pope said the years since the last ecumenical council, Vatican II, would have been easier for the Church if "instead

"It was just the way the thing got started, and the name seemed an appropriate one so it just stuck," he added.

Impetus for the effort, which has come both inside and outside the major denominations, grew out of a feeling that many churches lately have played down direct, clear-cut appeals for commitment to Christ.

Dr. Raedeke, who is taking a leave from his post as secretary of evangelism of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod to head the planning secretariate, says a promising climate has developed for the national effort.

People are becoming more and more concerned," he says. "They realize something should and must be done."

"Our goal is to confront the people more fully and forcefully with the Gospel of Christ by proclamation, by witness and demonstration, by word and deed."

Other indices of religious life, such as financial support and attendance, also have shown a downward trend in recent years.

The downturns have come in a period of keen tensions in the church over the related demands of the Gospel for declaring it, and doing it, with much of the recent emphasis on applying it in action rather than evangelistic preaching.

Most all segments in the churches recognize that both national and local elements are important. But been an ardent lay evangelist some feel strongly that the starting hundreds of Sunday schools and other Christian work straightforward proclamation has been neglected.

of being squandered, growing arid and paralyzing the hoped for renewal, these energies had remained faithful and active."

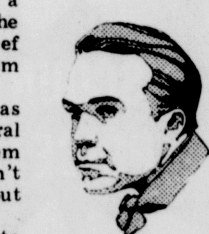

The Pope charged again that the Italian divorce law violated the 1929 Church-state concordat that gave civil effect to Church marriages.

He exhorted Italians "to remain solidly faithful, now and in the future, to their ancient and honorable traditions of respect for the Christian values of the family."

The Pope's speech contained fewer appeals for peace than his past discourses on the occasion. He said he felt sadness for the "Indochinese people" still tormented by war, and for the people of the war-torn Middle East.

He did not specify what countries he had in mind when he spoke of "regrettable political and social situations." But it was considered probable that he was referring to Spain, Poland and Brazil, three Catholic countries where there is strong public opposition to the government.

He urged prayers for peace on New Year's Day, which he has proclaimed a day of world prayer for the fourth straight year for the Church if "instead

Missionaries' Good Lives After Them

By DAVID POLING

The shake-up in the finances of the American church has had vibrations around the world. A sharp reduction in overseas personnel and a severe limitation on new assignments have touched nearly every denomination that has a world missions budget.

Although this trend started quietly three or four years ago, the crunch hit like a ton of bricks during the recession of 1970. More than 100 Presbyterian teachers, evangelists and medical technicians returned last year alone. These cuts will continue and the perspective on overseas work faces a new question mark.

About a year ago this writer received a communication from a college classmate who has served various church organizations in the Philippines. He spoke of the events we have described, but not in the tone of distress or defeat.

"This is a definite period of transition for the church here. New leadership is taking over. There is the urgency for participating in the national goals of economic and social development of the Philippines. The final links of dependence on the supporting denominations in the States are weakening."

"The United Church of Christ, and other churches, too, have their eyes set more clearly on their own future as a people. They look to their own resources for leadership and to their local sources for support. When they need more money than can be found locally, they turn to various world or regional agencies for help, instead of depending only on American sources. This situation has partly been a result of the dwindling finances in the United States for work overseas."

The Christian community in the Far East, especially in Korea and Hong Kong, has shown unusual strength and vitality. These folk are not holding their breath for the next check from the States nor do they feel that their program of Christian education and outreach is going to collapse with the departure of Americans.

In his book, "For Instance," Donald T. Kauffman quotes the leading secular magazine in India. The Illustrated Weekly of India, and the surprising article entitled, "What India Owes Christianity." The Christian investment of lives and cash in this ancient land is staggering. "Christian endeavor has given India," says the author, "over 150 colleges, 2,177 high schools, 214 technical schools, 153 teachers' training schools, 620 hospitals, 670 dispensaries, 86 leprosy centers, 713 orphanages, 67 homes for the aged (are you still with us?), 681 hostels and welfare centers, 275 creches, 44 agricultural settlements, 27 industrial centers, and several institutions for the blind, the deaf and the handicapped." A. Soares, who gathered the information, asked a fair question: "What other community has done as much for our country?"

What happens when the missionaries leave? The work goes on and all the sponsors are local, lively and loving.

The POWER of FAITH

BY WOODI ISHMAEL

For almost 2,000 years on the day the Christian world celebrates the birth of Christ, there has been a spirit of brotherhood and love. There is a cease fire in wars and people stop their endless pursuit of power and wealth. We hear and read the age old, "Peace on Earth, good will toward Men."

The time has come that this phrase must be repeated every day of the year, not only in words but in action. PEACE ON EARTH, GOOD WILL TOWARD ALL MEN.

Annual Dinner For Lonely Draws 32

WINFIELD, Kan. (AP) — The third annual Christmas dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Prather for lonely people anywhere drew 32 guests Friday.

There were 29 at the dinner in 1968, and there were 26 last year.

Prather, 84, remembered how lonely he was 34 years ago at Christmas when he was single and spent the day alone near Belle Plaine, Kan.

Deciding to do something about it, the Prathers issued the dinner invitation. All they ask is that guests bring their own table service and phone or write in advance that they are coming.

This time the diners came from Oklahoma, Missouri and these communities in Kansas—Harper, Anthony, Clearwater, Udall and Arkansas City.

Even as they passed out the invitations, people kept asking what was in it for the sponsors. They wanted to know what the "angle" was. A hotel desk clerk asked for $10 before letting Ring and Clabaugh pass out the invitations.

The party was the idea of Doug Ring, 26, a marketing man, and Ted Clabaugh, 32, a lawyer. It was held in the auditorium of an old hotel.

The guests came from nine rooming houses and cheap hotels. The letter-sized invitations had said that everyone was invited to entertainment and refreshments—free Christmas Day.

A dairy donated 25 gallons of eggnog. A bank and an insurance company gave Christmas trees, a bakery the pastry, a bottling company the soft drinks, a printing company the invitations.

Turkey Dinner For the Needy Attracts 475

BEND, Ore. (AP) — A turkey dinner for the needy attracted some 475 persons Christmas Day and Jerry Hastings, the 29-year-old furniture auctioneer who planned it, decided it would become an annual event.

It will be called the "Annual Penny Dinner" from now on with admission one cent a person, Hastings said.

Hastings wanted "to do something special this year" so he used nearly $500 of his own money to provide the dinner in a hall of a Roman Catholic church he had rented in this Central Oregon community.

He sent out dinner tickets to 250 families and the Welfare Department invited 91 more.

"The best blessing was seeing them go through the line a couple of times," Hastings said. And, yes, Santa Claus — Hastings' brother William — was there, distributing gifts to the youngsters.

200 Births in Area

December 26, 1920
J. A. Barber was run over and seriously hurt last Sunday evening by a car driven by Jake Sizemore. The accident occurred in front of Kirby's restaurant on Front Street. As the story goes, Mr. Sizemore was driving east on Front street and just in front of the restaurant, Mr. Barber in attempting to cross the street, stepped in front of the car.

There were 99 deaths and 200 births in Sikeston and vicinity during 1920, according to the records filed with Dr. W. E. Derris, local registrar of vital statistics.

C.H. Denman, editor of The Herald and sons, Paul and Carl, will go to Farmington on December 31, to attend the funeral of the former's father, the Rev. J.H. Denman, who passed away at the home of C.B. Denman there on December 30.

The Rev. Amos K. Clarke of Baxter Springs, Kas., has written the officials of the Sikeston Christian Church that he cannot accept their call to the local pastorate. A desire to keep his daughter in the schools at Baxter

Springs and ill health of his wife are given as the reasons for his refusal to accept the call.

Under Twenty

There's a Technique When Turning Down Invitation, Girls

If you are not the most popular girl in class, it may seem unlikely you'll have to turn down an invitation. But girls, it will happen sooner or later. Johnny will have asked you to go to the movies Saturday night and out of the blue, Billy will call for a date the same night.

The temptation is to say, "I'm sorry, Billy, but I've already told Johnny I'll go to the movies with him." Wrong! It may make you feel more in demand to answer that way, but it's bad form and places Billy in the position of having been the loser in the race. The proper way is to say, "I would have liked to go with you, Billy, but I made a previous date."

There is one time when it is proper to tell a boy where you are going. That's if you know you've both been invited to the same party. You can tell him you've already been invited to go with Johnny and that you look forward to seeing him there.

Let's suppose you would really rather have the date with Billy. You've accepted the date with Johnny and you are honor-bound to keep it. That makes sense. Get known as a girl who goes back on her word, and the result can be Saturday nights when nobody calls because you can't be counted on. Besides, it is only fair and you wouldn't want a boy to accept a better date after he'd already made one with you.

Turning down a boy you don't care for and simply don't want to date presents a different problem. You probably don't just want to come out and say you don't like him and refuse to date him. You can be kind by saying you are unfortunately unable to accept without going into any lengthy explanation as to why. If you stay at home, there isn't any problem, and if you should make a date and run into him, you've spared his feelings.

The way in which you handle your "yes" and "no" to requests for dates is an important part of your popularity with the boys. Be honest, fair and dependable.

Gun Trap Hoax Costs Owner

THE CASE OF THE CAGY HUNTER

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.
Morris bought a hunting lodge which he immediately insured against fire. He had his own idea, however, how to protect it against burglars. He hung up a sign, outside the lodge that warned: "Beware of Trap Guns in Lodge."

Actually, Morris didn't even have a firecracker in the building. The sign was a hoax. But, when the lodge subsequently caught fire, the local firefighters exhibited no intention of questioning the veracity of the sign and permitted the lodge to smolder into a heap of ashes. Thus, when Morris attempted to collect under his fire policy, he was turned down cold.

"You're mad if you think we're going to pay you," he was told. "You scared the firemen away with your sign. Otherwise, they might have saved the building."

"Baloney!" responded Morris. "That sign was intended to keep out burglars and not firemen. Besides, the sign had nothing to do with the policy. Under the policy, if I had a fire, I was to be paid. And, I want to be paid."

The dispute ended up in court.

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit cagy Morris to collect? This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that the insurance company had not agreed to insure a building where the owner would prevent firemen from extinguishing a fire. And, by putting up the "Beware" sign, noted the judge, Morris had deterred the firefighters from entering the lodge as effectively as if he had stationed armed guards at the door.

Magistrate Hears Five Felony Cases

CHARLESTON — W. Clifton Wilson, $23.
Banta, Sr., special judge in the absence of Judge T. J. Brown, Jr., heard five felony cases in magistrate court.

Floyd Mason and Willie Lee Brown appeared on a felony charge of stealing and waived preliminary hearing in Magistrate Court. They were bound over to Circuit Court to appear at such time as the court shall require and were committed to jail after failing to post the required $1000 bonds. The defendants are accused of burglarizing Cecil's Liquor Store on December 4 and stealing liquor, cigarettes and a gun.

Zola Mae Williams, also charged with stealing in connection with the break in at Cecil's Liquor Store, asked for a preliminary hearing and Judge Banta set December 17 as trial date. She was released on $1000 bond, returnable to court the 17.

Jimmie Wilson, charged with arson (felony), waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to Circuit Court. Wilson is accused of setting fire to a barn owned by Eugene Ponder on November 2. He was committed to jail after failing to post $1000 bond.

Pete Sanchez, arrested on December 3 and charged with carrying a concealed, dangerous and deadly weapon, waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to Circuit Court. He failed to post a $1000 bond and was committed to jail.

John Cannon was sentenced to sixty days in jail and fined $120.50 on a charge of driving while intoxicated - involved in a one car accident.

Roger McClanahan pleaded innocent to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Judge Banta set December 17 as trial date and the defendant was released on $500 cash bond.

Thomas E. Simmons, charged with driving while intoxicated and driving a motor vehicle while his license was revoked, was fined $119 and sentenced to ninety days in jail.

Speeding charges brought the following fines: Robert Grav, $21; Willie Mabry, $28; and J. C.

Selves Administrator Of Kennett Hospital

KENNETT — Elden S. Selves, insurance representative, has been named administrator of the Dunklin County Memorial Hospital.

The announcement was made today by the hospital board of trustees.
Selves will assume his new duties at the hospital as soon as he can wrap up his personal business, a board spokesman said today, possibly within the next two weeks.

Selves, 42, was born at Ewing and was married to Wanda Lou White of Kennett in 1952. They have two children, Stewart Wayne, 14, and Lou Ann, 10.

He graduated from Jackson High School in 1946 and received a B.S. Degree from Southeast Missouri State College in 1950, with a major in mathematics and education.

He taught school in Kennett from 1950 to 1953 and was associated with the accounting firm of Kraft, Miles and Tatum from 1953 to 1968. Selves joined the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co. in 1968. He qualified for the 1969 Squab Club, a sales honor group of the Mutual company.

He served in the Missouri Army National Guard for over 22 years and was commissioned a Reserve Army Officer in April of 1963. He was promoted to first lieutenant in 1956 and to captain in 1963. Selves held various positions and commands with the Guard, ranging from platoon leader to company commander to battalion staff officer. He resigned July 30, 1970.

The new hospital administrator is a past president of the Kennett Jaycees and presently belongs to the Kennett Rotary Club. He is a board member of the Kennett Swim Team Assn., treasurer of the Kennett Country Club, Inc., treasurer of the Kennett Insurance Agency and is presently serving on the Kennett City Council. He is also a member of the First Baptist Church.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

Jesus answered, "...For this I was born, and for this I have come into the world, to bear witness to the truth. Every one who is of the truth hears my voice. (John 18:37, RSV)

PRAYER: Thank You, O God, for the joys of Christmas time, for the happy reunions and the bright eyes of little children. Since Christmas is the beginning only, make us willing to give our all in Your service. Amen.

Trooper's Car Stolen, Burned

Poplar Bluff—A car owned by a state highway patrolman residing in Hayti was stolen and burned Monday night, Troop E Headquarters in Poplar Bluff reported.

A 1968 Ford, which was the personal car of Trooper Clifford Cummins, was stolen Monday night and found abandoned and burned several hours later on a gravel road four miles northwest of Hayti. Trooper Herbert A. Campbell found the car.

Promotions At Bank of New Madrid

New Madrid—Sam L. Hunter Jr., president of the Bank of New Madrid, announced the promotion of three employees at the annual Christmas banquet Friday, at the New Madrid Country Club.

Mrs. Jack Tisher and Mrs. Calvin Hayes were promoted to assistant vice-presidents and Mrs. Pierce (Cleta) Duncan was promoted to assistant cashier.

Mrs. Tisher started with the bank in June of 1945 in the bookkeeping department, where she worked for about four years. From there she was transferred to the loan department as loan clerk and part-time teller. She then became a full-time teller and worked in this capacity for a short time before becoming secretary to Mr. Hunter, a position she has held to the present time.

Mrs. Hayes first began working at the bank in January, 1947, as a bookkeeper. She has also worked as a teller and loan clerk. In 1964 Mrs. Hayes was promoted to bookkeeping supervisor and is still serving in that capacity.

Mrs. Duncan began her banking career in 1947 at the Bank of Hayti as a bookkeeper and teller. She came to the Bank of New Madrid in 1952 as a bookkeeper. Since that time she has also worked in all the various departments of the bank. She is presently secretary to Executive Vice-President Charles E. Palmer.

Recreation Panel Formed

EAST PRAIRIE — A city park and recreation commission, formed to plan and execute a long range program for improvement and additional recreational facilities for the city, has been appointed by the court council.

Serving on the commission are: David Brumley, Jones Hedge, Mrs. Carey Johnson, Mrs. Ray Melton and James Bruce, Jr. Ex Officio members are City Manager James Wilson and Mayor Lloyd Hogan.

The Council approved a $500 donation from the city to the Mississippi County Recreation Association. The project, which will benefit the entire county, was endorsed by the council, who feel that a closer working relationship between East Prairie and Charleston may result in progress in other areas.

An increased in electrical rates from the Missouri Utilities Co. was not approved by the council, who issued the following statement: "The users of electric power are paying franchise taxes at this time; For this reason the City Board of Councilmen feel the increase should not be approved by the city."

The council issued the following statement concerning access roads to the public housing sites A and B: "We do hereby verify that streets to the project contract limits on sites A and B, which are to be built by the city, are to be built at no cost to the local housing authority."

City Manager James Wilson informed the board he is contacting hospitals in efforts to obtain a doctor for the city. The council agreed to pay $44 per year dues for the managers membership in the International City Managers Association.

In other business the board approved expenditures in the amount of $5881.92 for the month of November; collector's report totaling $25,734.31; Police Judge report showing $510 following fines assessed during the month, and Christmas bonus of $10 each to the city employees.

America's first skiers, Scandinavians, carried the winter mail through California's mountainous gold country in the 1860's.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Dec. 26, the 360th day of 1970. There are five days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1776, in the Revolutionary War, George Washington's troops defeated the Hessians in a surprise attack at Trenton, N.J.

On this date: In 1805, France and Austria signed the Peace of Pressburg, with Italy annexing Venice.

In 1865, James Nason of Franklin, Mass. was granted a patent for the first coffee percolator in the U.S.

In 1941, in World War II, Gen. Douglas MacArthur declared the Philippine capital of Manila an open city.

Also in 1941, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill addressed the U.S. Congress and declared: "If we had kept together after the last war, if we had taken common measures for our safety, this renewal of the curse need never have fallen upon us."

In 1943, a British destroyer sank the German battleship "Scharnhorst" off the coast of Norway.

In 1944, Soviet troops completed the encirclement of Budapest, Hungary.

Ten years ago — President elect John F. Kennedy met with key advisers at Palm Beach, Fla., on plans to expand the U.S. space program.

Five years ago — The U.S. refrained from renewed bombing of North Vietnam although a Christmas cease-fire had ended.

One year ago — Israeli warplanes hit targets in Egypt and Jordan.

Man Dies As Train Hits Car

MOREHOUSE — C. D. Savage, 72, Morehouse, was killed early this morning in a car-train collision in Morehouse, the highway patrol said.

At 9:54 a.m. on Scott Street, a 1966 Plymouth traveling south driven by C. D. Savage drove onto a railroad crossing and was struck by a Missouri Pacific train going west, engineered by Charles Maupin, 60, Poplar Bluff, the patrol said.

The car was dragged approximately 115 feet, Morehouse Marshal Buddy McCain said.

The driver died at the Missouri Delta Community hospital, Sikeston, at 11:10 a.m. The body was taken to Watkins and Sons Funeral Home in Morehouse.

Red Korea Claims U.S. In Sea Duel

TOKYO (AP)—North Korea charged that the United States sent a number of armed ships, including a spy ship, into North Korean waters today. The North Koreans said they "dealt a decisive counter blow at the intruders."

The Korean Central News Agency also said the United States sent warplanes to the spot and fired more than 50 large shells at North Korean patrol boats. The broadcast said nothing about casualties or damage.

In Washington, the State Department said a report it received from Seoul described an incident—apparently the same one figuring in the North Korean accusations—as involving only Korean combatants on both sides.

According to this report, officials said, a South Korean fishing boat sailed into North Korean waters. The information did not make clear why it crossed over the line or whether the intrusion was accidental.

The fishing boat was approached by North Korean patrol vessels which pursued it into South Korean waters. At this point shore batteries in South Korea fired on the North Korean intruders which then sailed back to North Korea. There were no reports of casualties on either side.

The North Korean broadcast did not say how many ships or planes allegedly were involved or whether they were American or Korean. The North Koreans consider South Koreans armed forces part of "the U.S. imperialist aggressor forces," operating under U.S. command.

The broadcast charged that the ships intruded into North Korean waters east of Changjin, about 15 miles north of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.

HOLIDAY SPIRITS FOR three Sikeston families were darkened Thursday when a faulty furnace is believed to have caused a fire at 415 Kendall St.

Faulty Furnace Blamed Christmas Eve Fire Leaves Three Families Homeless

A Christmas Eve fire in Sikeston left three families homeless in what Fire Chief Dolph Webb describes as "the worst fire we have fought since I have been here." Chief Webb has been serving since last year.

Firemen battled the three unit apartment house blaze at 415

Kendall for four hours before bringing it under control. The house was owned by Al Proffer. Firemen received the initial fire alarm at 2:16 p.m. and worked for three hours. The building was "practically destroyed" and most of the contents were lost.

The Earl Evans family, Darrell Alsop and the Charles Brady family suffered partial or total losses to their possessions.

The fire apparently started when a faulty furnace in a room occupied by Alsop caught fire and spread to the remainder of the dwelling.

No injuries were reported.

After battling the blaze for three hours, firemen were again called when the fire re-ignited. A third call came at 6:45 p.m. and firemen remained on the scene for over an hour before finally arresting the fire.

All regular and volunteer firemen responded to the calls.

Soviet Death Sentence for Hijackers Widely Denounced

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Denunciations against the Soviet Union reverberated around the world today because of death sentences handed down in Leningrad against two Jews accused of planning to hijack a Soviet jetliner.

Throughout Israel, Jews demonstrated revulsion at the trial and at Moscow's refusal to let Soviet Jews emigrate to Israel.

Schoolchildren in Tel Aviv chanted "let my people go" before the Finnish Embassy, which handles Soviet affairs in Israel. Pupils in Haifa asked in a telegram to the White House that President Nixon intervene. The southern city of Eilat called Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles, Eilat's sister city, asking support for the condemned men. Even Rakah, the pro-Moscow Communist party of Israel, asked that the death sentences be modified. But it sent a letter to Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny condemning an "anti-Soviet propaganda campaign" it said was being waged in Israel.

Premier Golda Meir told the Knesset, Israel's parliament, that the defendants' only crime was that "they dared approach the Soviet authorities to let them go to Israel." The defendants wanted to emigrate not as a protest against the Soviet government, she said, but because of a "national awakening ... for the right to join their own people."

Then the Knesset

unanimously adopted a resolution calling on "enlightened mankind" to intervene with the Kremlin to free the two defendants sentenced to death and the eight other Jews and one gentile tried with them.

Edward Kuznetsov and Mark Dymshits, who told the Leningrad court he had planned the escape to Finland for two years, were sentenced on Thursday to death by firing squads. Sentences for the others were from 4 to 15 years in labor camps. The defendants have a week to appeal the convictions.

In Washington, about 200 demonstrators burned a replica of the Soviet flag and chanted "Let my people go!" and "Stop the kangaroo court now!" two blocks from the Soviet Embassy. An 11-man delegation was turned away at the embassy when it asked to express "our great concern and agony" over the trial.

In New York, the women's Zionist organization Hadassah urged in a statement that the Russian Federation Supreme Court "let these people go" and "add to the list of martyrs by yet another cynical miscarriage of justice."

Seymour Graubard, national chairman of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, messaged the Soviet ambassador to the United States, Anatoly F. Dobrynin, for permission to file a brief with the high court in their behalf.

The World Jewish Congress called the death sentences "incredibly harsh and repugnant" and said in London that an international Jewish delegation was meeting with Vatican officials to enlist the aid of Pope Paul VI.

Eighth Olathe GI Day Late For Christmas

OLATHE, Kan. (AP)—Seven Olathe servicemen made it home from Vietnam for Christmas—barely.

Eighteen days after the community of 18,000 launched a drive to bring all its eligible servicemen back for the holidays, a private jet landed at Kansas City Municipal Airport. The time was 11:55 p.m. CST Christmas Day.

An eighth member of the group arrived on a commercial flight early today. The chartered plane could accommodate only seven.

Hanoi Claims Christmas Privileges Given POWs

SAIGON (AP)—A U.S. congressman said today that North Vietnamese officials had told him American prisoners of war are allowed to participate in sports and were given special privileges this Christmas season.

Rep. G. V. (Sonny) Montgomery, D-Miss., told a news conference that he met two days this week with high-ranking officials of the North Vietnamese embassy in Vientiane, Laos, including the charge d'affaires.

The congressman talked with newsmen as he wound up a week-long tour of Southeast Asia.

Montgomery, a member of the House Veterans Affairs Committee, said he went to Vientiane to meet with the North Vietnamese "as a private citizen" but that they accepted him as a government official. He did not say whether he will make an official report on his trip when he gets back to Washington.

"Probably the most significant thing that came out of my meetings for two days is that they did meet with an American government official, and the highest ranking official they've ever met in that embassy," Montgomery said. "This is significant in that I generally supported President Nixon's policy in Southeast Asia and I am generally classified somewhat as a hawk."

He said he gave the North Vietnamese three concrete proposals:

1. That he be given any information on American prisoners of war that has not been released in Paris.

2. That he be admitted to Hanoi and be allowed to meet with American prisoners.

3. That two to six Americans be released in his custody and flown to Vientiane.

"I did not get a flat answer that I could not come to Hanoi to meet with the prisoners," Montgomery said. "I was given the answer on my third request—that Americans be released—that this would be referred to Hanoi. On my request for information on the 1,500 men classified as missing, I was told that would be referred to Hanoi."

Montgomery said the North Vietnamese told him that "the prisoners are being treated very well. They strictly denied that Americans died from malnutrition—the 20 they had reported dead in North Vietnam."

"They said they died of natural disease, that North Vietnam had some of the greatest surgical procedure. I took notes, and they said, and I'm reading from the notes, that they died of natural disease. They said they died of diseases that were incurable and could not be treated."

"Of course, I probably should have followed up and asked if they were wounds."

No major military action was reported across South Vietnam today.

In Cambodia, a military spokesman said political infighting is increasing between the North Vietnamese and the Red Khmer, the Cambodian equivalent of the Viet Cong. Lt. Col. Am Rong said in Phnom Penh that 30 Cambodians who had been fighting with the Communists defected to the government side on Christmas Day and that more than 100 guerrillas had quit the Red

Khmers in southern Cambodia in the past week.

He also said a number of Cambodian guerrillas had surrendered during the past month in the Parrot's Peak section of Cambodia, but he gave no figures.

In South Vietnam, a 24-hour allied cease-fire ended Friday night but a 72-hour Viet Cong truce was scheduled to run until 1 a.m. Sunday, Saigon time.

The U.S. Command reported 26 "enemy-initiated incidents" against American forces during the 24-hour allied Christmas cease-fire, with four U.S. troops wounded. Last year there were 36 incidents against U.S. troops during the allied cease-fire, and three Americans were wounded.

South Vietnamese headquarters reported 52 incidents against its forces during the truce, compared with 56 a year ago. In a revised casualty summary, headquarters said 13 Vietnamese were killed and 45 were wounded, compared with 14 killed and 23 wounded a year ago.

Driver Charged With DWI After Ramming Parked Car

Four were injured in area traffic accidents Christmas Day and today, the Highway Patrol reported.

Three miles north of Sikeston at 5:30 p.m. yesterday, a 1968 Camaro parked on the shoulder of I-55 facing south driven by Joe Wood, Jr., 30, Brinkley, Ark., was struck in the rear by a south bound 1961 Buick driven by Joe Glenn, 57, Cape Girardeau, the patrol said.

The driver of the Camaro suffered minor injuries.

Glenn was arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and driving with a revoked license.

At 2:15 a.m. today on route N four miles south of Lutesville, a 1967 Mustang traveling West driven by Phillip Henry Debrock, 19, Leopold, went out of control, struck a dirt embankment, and overturned, the patrol said.

The driver suffered cuts and bruises. A passenger, Gregory Elfrink, 18, Cahokia, Ill., suffered cuts and bruises. Both were taken to Southeast

Missouri hospital, Cape Girardeau.

At 4:08 a.m. today on highway 84 in Hayti, a 1965 Pontiac driven by Kenneth Overby, 44, Hayti, failed to stop at a flashing railroad light and ran into a Frisco train 835, the patrol said.

The engineer is C. H. Duncan, 35, Chaffee.

The driver suffered severe head cuts and was taken to Pemiscot Memorial hospital, Hayti.

Inflation, Pay Hikes Eat up Hoped-for Peace Dividend

WASHINGTON (AP)—The so-called peace dividend, the billions of dollars the Nixon administration hoped could be channeled back into health and education programs when the Vietnam war wound down, has proved to be a myth in a wave of inflation.

There is no peace dividend, says Robert C. Moot, the Pentagon's comptroller. Inflation and pay raises have eaten most of it.

Moot said that at its peak in 1968 the Vietnam war was costing the Pentagon an added $20 billion a year, but by the end of the current fiscal year the figure will have been sliced to about $10 billion.

Even without a peace dividend, it would seem that defense spending could be reduced as the war comes to a close, and the men and the machines come home.

But that is not to be. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird has already let it be known. Laird says the "rock-bottom" spending will go up next year for the first time in three years.

In an interview, Moot offered an explanation for where the expected savings disappeared and why defense spending is heading up instead of down.

Over the past two years, some savings have already been plowed back into the economy, he says. This is the $6.2 billion resulting from the cut in the 1968 Pentagon budget of $78 billion to $71.8 billion in the current fiscal year.

Pay raises for military and civilian workers in the Defense Department make up another $4.6 billion of the $10 billion drop in war costs.

Piled on top of this was $300 million boost in military retirement pay.

With inflation driving up costs, Moot explains, the Pentagon as well as all other federal agencies, are paying more for the same goods and services purchased two years ago.

To keep spending to what Laird says is the "rock-bottom" level and at the same time finance modernization programs, he has trimmed military and civilian manpower rolls. The size of the armed forces has shrunk from 3.5 million when the Nixon administration took office to about 2.9 million today and will drop further to perhaps below 2.5 million.

Still, the pay raises combined with the impact of inflation, will force a reversal in the downward trend of the defense budget next year, Moot says.

When the President submits his new budget to Congress early next year, the Pentagon's share is expected to increase about $2 billion.

Moot says the emphasis in the new budget will be on more money for research and development to counter Soviet increases in this field, more money for modernization—new ships and planes—delayed by the war and to help offset the manpower cuts in the military services.

Baby Mauled to Death by Dog

CHENEQUA, Wis. (AP)—Keith Hale, 3-months-old, was mauled and killed by a pet dog today in his home.

He was lying on a davenport when he was attacked and bitten around the head by the mutt, one of two family dogs, the Waukesha County Sheriff's office said.

Mrs. and Mrs. Clifford Hale have five other children.

The sheriff's office said it was called to the home and destroyed the dog, which had been regarded as a gentle animal.

Highway Crews Move Snow

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Missouri's highway maintenance crews did not refuse to remove snow from roads Christmas Day because there wasn't enough to matter whether or not it was removed, an Operating Engineers union official said Friday.

Herman Jones, secretary and business manager of Operating Engineers Local 2, said last week the 1,700 of the state's 2,400 highway maintenance employees represented by his union would refuse to work when the first big snowfall of the winter comes.

Jones said union members are disgruntled because the state Highway Commission refused to implement a pay raise voted by the legislature for highway department employees.

"We want enough snow to make a difference whether the snow is removed or not," Jones said.

Jack Stapleton Sr., chairman of the Highway Commission, said last week he doubts the highway workers would refuse to work in a snow emergency.

Highway Toll Tops 200

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Accidents on the nation's highways killed 213 persons as many holiday travelers began their homeward journeys during the last two days of the Christmas holiday weekend.

Snow and icy rain hampered driving over much of nation, especially in the Central Plains and from the Great Lakes region eastward to the mid-Atlantic states.

The traffic count runs from 6 p.m. Thursday to midnight Sunday, local time.

Dog Causes Driver To Swerve

An eighteen-year-old London, Ark. man was killed Thursday near Dexter, the Highway Patrol said.

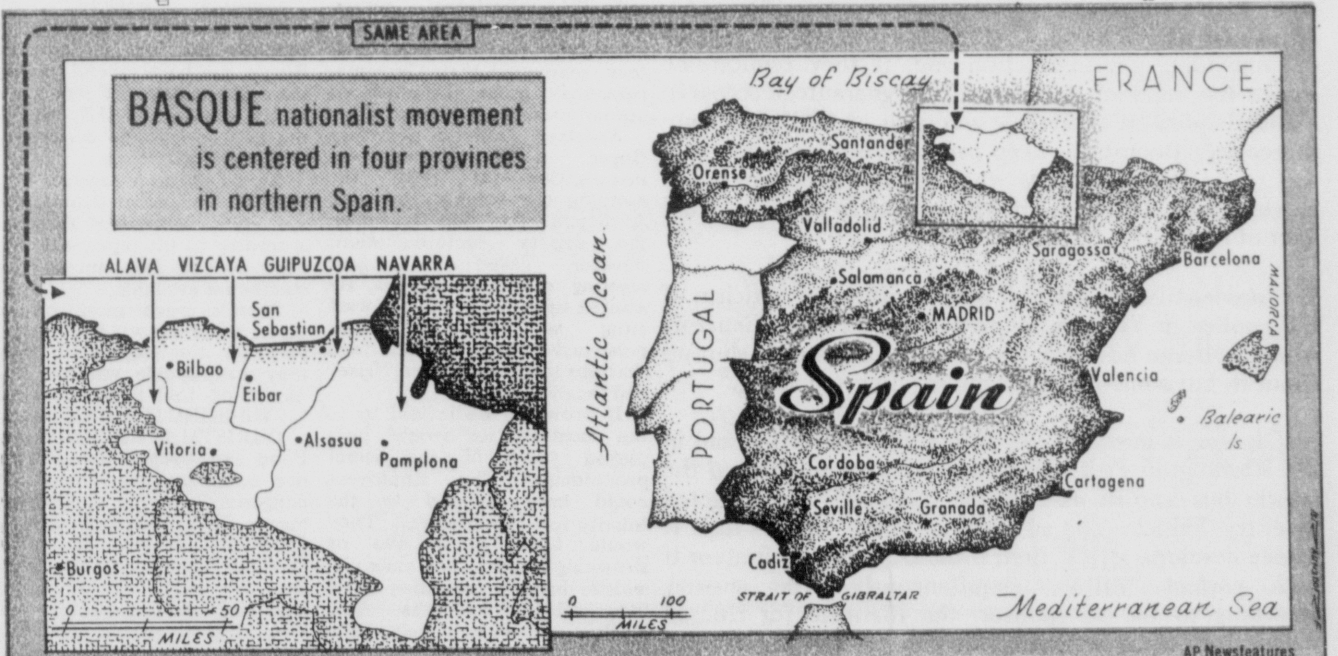

At 5:24 p.m. on highway 60 one and one-tenth mile west of the highway 25 and 60 junction near Dexter, a 1965 Ford traveling west driven by Michael Wayne Riley, 23, Russellville, Ark., was struck in the side by an east bound 1969 Chevrolet pickup driven by Clarence Raymond Pritchard, 51, Indianapolis, Ind., the patrol said.

Killed was a passenger in the Ford, Corlis Lee Gilbert, 18, London, Ark.

The driver of the Ford suffered cuts and bruises. James Carter, 15, Naylor, a passenger in the Ford, suffered severe throat cuts and was taken to Dexter Memorial hospital and later transferred to the Missouri Delta Community hospital in Sikeston. Another passenger in the Ford, Charlotte Singleton, 19, Russellville, Ark., suffered severe head cuts.

The driver of the pickup suffered cuts and bruises.

The patrol said a dog managed to get between Pritchard's legs and caused him to swerve into the Ford.

In Spain Basques Seek 'Land and Liberty'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The initials ETA remain a mystery to most average Spaniards, but present the government of Gen. Francisco Franco with perhaps the worst crisis in the ruler's 30-year reign.

ETA stands for Euzkadi Ta Askatasuna, meaning "Basque Land and Liberty." It is an organization of Basque activists which began in 1953 with the target separation from Spain and independence for the four Basque provinces in the northern part of the country. In the 1960s, it adopted terrorism and retaliation against police in its effort to gain its ends, contrasted with the means of the conservative Basque Nationalist party, in exile.

The showdown between the ETA and Franco came with the recent trial of 16 Basques, facing charges from banditry to terrorism and murder.

The court-martial touched off widespread strikes and was cited as the reason for the kidnapping of a West German diplomat by a group that claimed to belong to ETA.

The Basques, a race that was there when the Iberians came to Spain, live in all parts of the country. As a community, they center in four provinces —

Guipuzcoa, Vizcaya, Alava and Navarre— as well as in three French departments near the border.

Their culture is quite different from those of the Spaniards, with a unique language.

Although they represent less than 5 per cent of Spain's 33 million population, they enjoyed autonomy before Franco took power after the civil war ended in 1939.

But, over the years, cultural restrictions and the abolition of limited autonomy changed their mild nationalism to more active forms.

Their standard of living tends to be better than elsewhere in Spain and they have a reputation as great shepherders, eaters, drinkers and talkers.

The number of full-time urban guerrillas is estimated at 40 to 50 and sources say ETA has 500 part time members called "based militants" and "sympathizers."

ETA operates often near the provincial capitals of Bilbao and San Sebastian and supports itself principally by donation— and robbery.

Now, with the trial of the 16 separatists, the Basques seem to feel they are all on trial.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!
Men forget favors of others, but remember those they grant.

Mr. John S. Reed, president of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Railway Company, has noted: "There is no doubt that some segments of the railroad industry are in trouble today. That trouble exists not because railroads are an anachronism, but rather because the rules of the game under which we are forced to operate are anachronistic. In a nutshell, we need the freedom to run our railroads much as any other businessman runs his business, without undue interference."

Ben Franklin said it: "Suspicion may be no fault, but showing it may be a great one."

Ernest L. Wampler, In San Palmo, Calif., City Councilmen Unanimously and Palmer S. Myhre signed petitions that would put their recall from office up for voting.

James T. Ownby, founder of the International Association of Characters, Auburn, Ala., remarks that an old timer is one who can remember when, at the holiday season, we counted our blessings instead of calories.

Also:
People who give up an old habit usually put a new one in its place ... like they quit smoking and start bragging.

Have on, Jim! Can you imagine a creature so depraved as to have devoted a lifetime to gluttony, making with such quips as:

If I can't do it with knife and fork or in a rocking chair, I don't want it, or

I had some exercise once, and didn't think much of it.

Now he is down to 1,200 calories a day and abuses his friends with boasts about the 40 pounds his healer meat-knived off him, with intimate details about cold sauerkraut, head lettuce without dressing, and such substitutes for rib-sticking provender?

Were it not for diet or grandchild, some bores would be destitute for conversation material.

Arthur Ziegenhorn says "When a man tells you it's not the money, but the principal of the thing -- it's the money."

The following letter to Life Lines makes a lot of sense. It is from Henry Grote of Phoenix, Ariz.: "Why have the un-American liberals prevented our military commanders from winning the war in Vietnam, just like they did in Korea ... by placing restrictions on them? Only a short time ago, this liberal group stated that if we would stop bombing North Vietnam the Viet Cong would seek peace. Now they say we must withdraw our forces from Vietnam." Henry, they are like the Marxists -- they keep making demands and are never satisfied.

The "humanist" (godless) sex program of SIECUS (Sex Information and Education Council of the United States) is a tiresome one, having had its platform riddled in California, Oklahoma, Louisiana and portions of Texas, but it has been buoyed by pro-SIECUS articles in left-wing magazines such as Life, Look, Redbook. So what is it doing now? According to California Families United (CFU), SIECUS has hired "a most expensive public relations firm, Ruder and Finn, to promote Family Life and Sex Education." CFS says a rash of pro-SIECUS articles is expected. California, by the way, has a new law to take effect in November, aimed specifically at SIECUS' family life education (humanist and godless and amoral). The law gives parents the right to withdraw their children from sex classes in which "reproductive organs and their functions and processes are described, illustrated or discussed ..." Parents must also be warned of impending sex instruction and, if they request, be shown the materials to be used. The guaranteed access to materials portion of the law zeroes in on SIECUS' many successful attempts to keep parents from knowing what was to be taught. This is what has bothered parents so much about SIECUS -- it has refused to operate in the light of day.

President Nixon asks for a moratorium on criticism of U.S. policy in Vietnam, apparently referring to Senators whose criticism has been, ah, caustic. They would shut up about it, but someone keeps pulling their red string.

Oh woe is mankind, according to an advertisement in the Washington Post concerning the race to develop the missile bus known as Multiple Independently Targeted Re-entry Vehicle. The ad says the MIRV race is lost: if Russia develops MIRV first; if the U.S. does so first; or if both perfect MIRV simultaneously. The answer, according to the ad sponsor, the Institute for Human Values, Inc., is for neither country to develop the weapon and for both to promise not to do so. This means we have to trust Brezhnev & Kosygin, which is a good thing to do if you forget Czechoslovakia, all those other agreements the Russians have broken, and the millions of people who have been liquidated by Communists since 1917. It's almost as if Kosygin & Brezhnev had paid for the ad themselves. Printed with the ad was an anti-MIRV story from Saturday Review of the Norton Simon, Inc., corral of super-left publications which includes Redbook and McCall's. The left is a suicidal ass which wants everyone else to be scragged along with it.

Peace, it's wonderful. People who are for peace are wonderful. Next time some peacenik talks about peace, ask him: "At what price?" Then tell him the Czechs have peace.

Speaking of super-leftish balderdash, did you know the only way to solve the problem in Vietnam is to get rid of Thieu and Ky and get a government "with which (the Communists) can live"? Arthur M. Cox of the blithering Brookings Institute says so. What he is doing is saying in a nice way what the Communists have been saying all along -- "Look, the Reds are going to take over South Vietnam, because the Americans don't want to win there, so why not just get out and let us take care of Thieu and Ky." Do you ever notice when the Soviet dupes talk, the Communists are always shown in a good light and no mention is ever made that the Communists are trying to take over South Vietnam and that the people who don't want to be Communist are evil? They did it to Chiang Kai-shek and we've been through all of this, oh so painfully, before. America is being had again, and the majority of us are letting the assassins get away with it.

Saul Alinsky is a radical and a professional rabble-rouser who tells special interest groups how to get federal help for their causes. So it was of some consequence when he said recently: "As for businessmen, I could persuade a capitalist on Friday to bankroll a revolution on Saturday that will bring him a profit on Sunday even though he will be executed on Monday." The question here is: Does Alinsky have a low regard for capitalists or do capitalists really know what's going on?

The Media: David Brinkley apparently doesn't approve of underground nuclear testing, inas much as he said during one of his editorials that the Atomic Energy Commission hadn't yet explained the reason for the test in the Aleutians "if there is a reason." Thanks, Dave, for that hard bit of "news." ... Like a broken record, the news was "Nixon still stands by the Haynsworth nomination" -- "The president will not back down on the Haynsworth matter" -- and so on. Was it news reporting or a political campaign?

The Jefferson Airplane is piloted by the Red Baron.

The Senate Judiciary Committee has been holding hearings on a subject of wide interest, the drug problem. Testifying has been the National Student Association, associations of chain drug stores and druggists, the attorney general of California and a Chicago police officer representing Mayor Daley.

You can become the possessor of an American flag that has been flown over the U.S. Capitol. According to The Elks Magazine, "All you have to do is write to your congressman for this favor, enclosing $3.15 for a 3 x 5 flag, or $6.00 for a 5x8." Congressmen report a growing demand from persons who have learned about this.

The latest score on the Social Security, inflation, taxation merry-go-round, as reported in U.S. News & World Report, shows the following: Effective January 1, Social Security "will be sweetened again" -- probably by about seven and one half per cent. It is said that minimum pensions may be raised to as high as $100 a month, all of which sounds fine. On the debit side of the ledger, however, the increase will mean something like this. The average employee earning $9,000 will pay $468 a year in Social Security tax in 1971, compared with $374 now. By 1980, his contribution will go up to $585. A person earning $12,000 a year as an employee will be taxed $624 next year in the name of Social Security, and $780 in 1980.

The question that remains unanswered is how far we can abandon the principle of self-reliance and still expect to retain the privilege of self-government and the liberties granted under it. Admittedly, this is an old and shopworn question. But, it remains just as pertinent today than ever before.

While you are "getting even" with a man in some vicious way, remember that he is probably doing the same thing with you. You can't kick anybody with impunity.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON--Our column reporting that the bosses of the armed forces radio-TV-publications empire sang songs, cracked bathroom jokes and roared with laughter as they conducted their Christmas personnel purge, created an uproar inside the Pentagon.

Assistant Defense Secretary Roger Kelley began an investigation at 8:30 the morning of the column appeared. At 3 p.m., Col. Earl Browning, the deputy communications director, called an urgent meeting of his employees. He assured them that no songs were sung at the hush-hush personnel-purge sessions and that our allegations were "false" and "malicious."

If Browning had invited us to the meeting, we would have played tapes of the secret proceedings. The employees could have listened to the hilarity for themselves. They would have heard one of Browning's aides, for example, whistle happily and then burst irrepressibly into the field artillery anthem as he helped out people off the payroll.

Amid the merrymaking, communications czar John Broger's special assistant, Henry Valentino, suggested it would be easier to control the radio-TV-film content by getting rid of civil service employees. Then, the work could be contracted out.

One official said Broger feared that private contractors would raise "problems involved with Senators, unions and everything else."

HANDLING THE UNION
The mention of unions brought a contemptuous snarl from one colonel. He boasted how he gets his shop steward to tell him what the employees are doing and then takes careful notes on everything the steward reports. This was greeted with admiring comments from the others.

"I told (the shop steward), 'I don't want to hear anything (from the union) about how I'm going to run this place.'"

THE POWER TO DESTROY
The tonnage of publicity and news releases which comes into a newspaper office poses a mighty problem -- how to cull out the important and find the time to read it. One release we do inspect regularly is that of the National Small Business Association, perhaps because running a newspaper puts us in that small business category. The latest is an eye-opener.

In late April, the organization brought a labor lawyer to Washington to testify before the Senate Judiciary Committee. The spokesman was a man who has devoted almost 30 years to representing businessmen in labor relations. Robert H. Jones, of Albany, New York. He told the Committee that the National Labor Relations Board is imposing upon small business "enormous, unwarranted and unconscionable expense in exercising or defending legitimate employer rights" under the law.

NLRB abuses of power, he said, "adversely affect the employer's opportunity to prepare and present his case. In direct contrast, they discriminatorily indulge unions in extensions of preparatory and presentation time or excuse their violation of filing time limits. ... They deny the employer effective protection against unfair labor practice which, particularly in the secondary boycott area, has become standard operating procedure in many unions. ... They repeatedly offend the Act's and the Constitution's guarantees of employer free speech ... By violating settlement agreements for disposing of alleged unfair practice, Board procedures increasingly force the small businessman into litigation he cannot realistically afford."

Mr. Jones was specific. He cited case after case. For example: in one case the NLRB devoted six months to investigating a "vague and insufficient charge," then issued a complaint against the employer containing 18 allegations of unfair labor practice.

"At no time during the entire investigation, despite repeated requests by the respondents (employers) counsel did the General Counsel (of the NLRB) indicate ... in any way even the general nature of the facts ostensibly underlying the charge!"
What happened?
The case was settled without trial on terms which the respondents had been willing to accept for more than a year. But the investigation alone cost the company more than $75,000 in executive time and legal expense, "most of which," said Jones, "could easily have been avoided had the General Counsel merely respected the Board's own rules and regulations ..."

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Freaking Out: Bernardine Dohrn. Switches 'Military Tactics': Orders Bombing Out, Street Fighting In.

NEW YORK: -- That red flame of today's dynamite-laden infant revolution, the elusive Bernardine Dohrn, appears to be flickering a bit. She's freaking out on bombing, according to her latest communiqué (signed by name and thumb print) from the underground "nation."

This American Passionaria has just told her comrades the time has come to abandon the explosives and come up for air. She's the future of our revolution has been changed decisively. A growing illegal organization of young women and men can live and fight and love inside Babylon.

"It is time for the movement to go out into the air to organize, to risk calling rallies and demonstrations, to convince that mass actions against the war and insupport of rebellions do make a difference. Only acting openly, denouncing Nixon, Agnew and Mitchell and sharing our numbers and wisdom together with young sisters and brothers will bring about the fear of the students at Kent State, the smacks (heroins) of the Lower East Side (in New York) and the national silence after the bombing of North Vietnam."

The death of three friends (townhouse) ended our military conception of what we are doing. It took us weeks of careful talking to rediscover our roots.

There then is carefully outlined the new route to revolution. Three and four-man cells should be as passive as a martini in a hash house. These cells can be infiltrated. But communies, families, trive can't. There men and women must live together. They are tested with drugs, sex, reverse sex, long rap sessions, hours of hours of introspection. The theory is no one who is not of the faithful can be an infiltrator.

And the communies, says the flaming Dohrn, are spreading from "Seattle to Atlanta, from Buffalo to Vermont..." She says nothing of the real Cubans in Toronto and Montreal where fugitive Weathermen can hide for years.

But hiding means the inability to make mass contact, the expenditure of time planning, freak mobility instead of propagandizing the lost youth on the campuses. And many a Weatherman is sick of running, sick of not doing their thing, not being part of the picture, watching others take their place in the swift flowing mainstream. They want back in.

And so the bombs may be out. If so it's a pleasant Christmas gift to the big cities and court and police stations. But beware of the freaks bearing gifts.

DEMOCRATS LOSING FACE
One of the most abhorred stances in the world is that taken by the ostrich, which, at a time of crisis, is supposed to stick its head in the sand hoping the trouble will go away.
The ostrich, however, had nothing this week on the Missouri State Democratic Committee, which has done a perfect imitation of the head-in-the-sand attitude with its refusal to take any upright stand on Democratic State Treasurer William E. Robinson, recently indicted on a felony charge.

The committee's posture appears all the more strange in view of recent statements by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, who said the Democratic party would be better off if Robinson resigned as treasurer.
Hearnes, who also serves a Democratic national committee, said party leaders would like to see Robinson resign and fight the grand jury indictment as a private citizen. He said the party had been hurt by the scandal involving one of its top state leaders. The governor seems to have little clout as party counselor.

It is too soon to say just how badly the Democrats have been hurt by the Robinson mess. A complete election will come at the next election.
But there are strong indications that their wounds are deep. The overwhelming victory of Republican Christopher "Kit" Bond in the November race for State Auditor, in which he ousted long-time Democratic incumbent Haskell Holman, showed that Missouri voters are growing tired of those political office-holders who refuse to act responsibly in serving taxpayers' needs.

One wonders where the State Democratic Committee has been for the last few weeks. Its current attempt to avoid trouble by refusing to face it gives voter all the more reason to question the ability of the Democratic party to direct the state's affairs. The responsible conduct of government calls for facing up to problems.

THE TRAGIC BOMBERS
by Jenkin Lloyd Jones
THEIR pictures are going up in the post offices now--pictures of young faces, un-smiling. Some of them are grim and bitter. Some are the wide-eyed, bearing an expression of innocence. Most are stark police mug shots, but a few are obviously high school graduation photos, taken to be dated upon by loving aunts.

These are the kids wanted for bombing. Or for the advocacy of bombing and the gathering of explosives. A few are wanted for murder, a few for taking lives. Their ages run from 18 to 23. The rest of the rogues gallery looks just about as it has ever since Dr. Bertillon and Louis Daguerre combined the arts of fingerprinting and photography for mancatching.

The cold killers, the bank robbers, the forgers and con men exhibit the same mixtures of cruelty, stupidity, bravado and craft that have been and always will be the ingredients of professional crime.

THE kids are different and more deadly. Their object is not the least offense necessary to accomplish an illegal purpose, which is the aim of the rational criminal. Rather, it is the most offense possible in order to create a nationwide terror. In this manner it is hoped to overthrow the existing social and political order.

This type of revolution by induced chaos requires two ingredients for success. One is either a broadly based public sympathy for the disrupters or at least a general public apathy. Second is a weak and unorganized government, incapable of effective counteraction.

There is no evidence that either condition prevails in the United States.
WHAT got these kids so far out on the limb?
Barring some possible cases of real psychosis, a twisted mentality either spontaneously generated or induced by drugs, most of them started as eager members of the NOW generation. They saw what they conceived to be social injustice, some of it certainly real. They wanted it fixed NOW.

None of them is of the contemplative type, willing to weigh the distressing difference between the ideal and the possible. They were not good at considering ways and means to a good end. They had a naive faith in reform-by-tantrum. So they joined the picket lines and waved their placards and participated in the riots and sit-ins. In most cases, the results, according to their lights, were inadequate.

SO, probably without realizing it, they drifted farther from the democratic process. They moved into the tight little corner that is the despairing self-justification for violence.

Although they did a lot of talking about "democracy" and bellowed "power to the people" they became steadily more alienated, more doctrinaire, more totalitarian. The people became their enemy.

Democracy was an evil because it impeded the control of those with the True Faith. The thing to do was to disrupt it, terrorize it and level it flat. Upon the wreckage could be built the New State.

IT isn't going to work, of course. But there will be blasts, fired and deaths. They will increase. The technique of making bombs will improve. Not always will the makers be so hand-handed as to blow themselves up, as they did at the Manhattan bomb factory last summer.

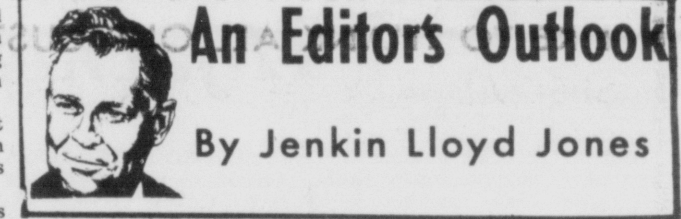

As they caught there may be a massive effort on the part of "antic" lawyers to create courtroom chaos and make judgments impossible. But this string, too, is fraying.

Even U.S. Supreme Court members, whose past decisions have overrestricted prosecution and overprotected the defense, now seem to understand that there is an assault on the whole judicial process in America.

RATHER, a year from now it is possible that there will be cause to worry about overreaction. If prosecution of bombing outrages develops a leaden feet and, particularly, if innocent bystanders are killed there will be a movement toward verdicts by mob and justice by lamp-post.

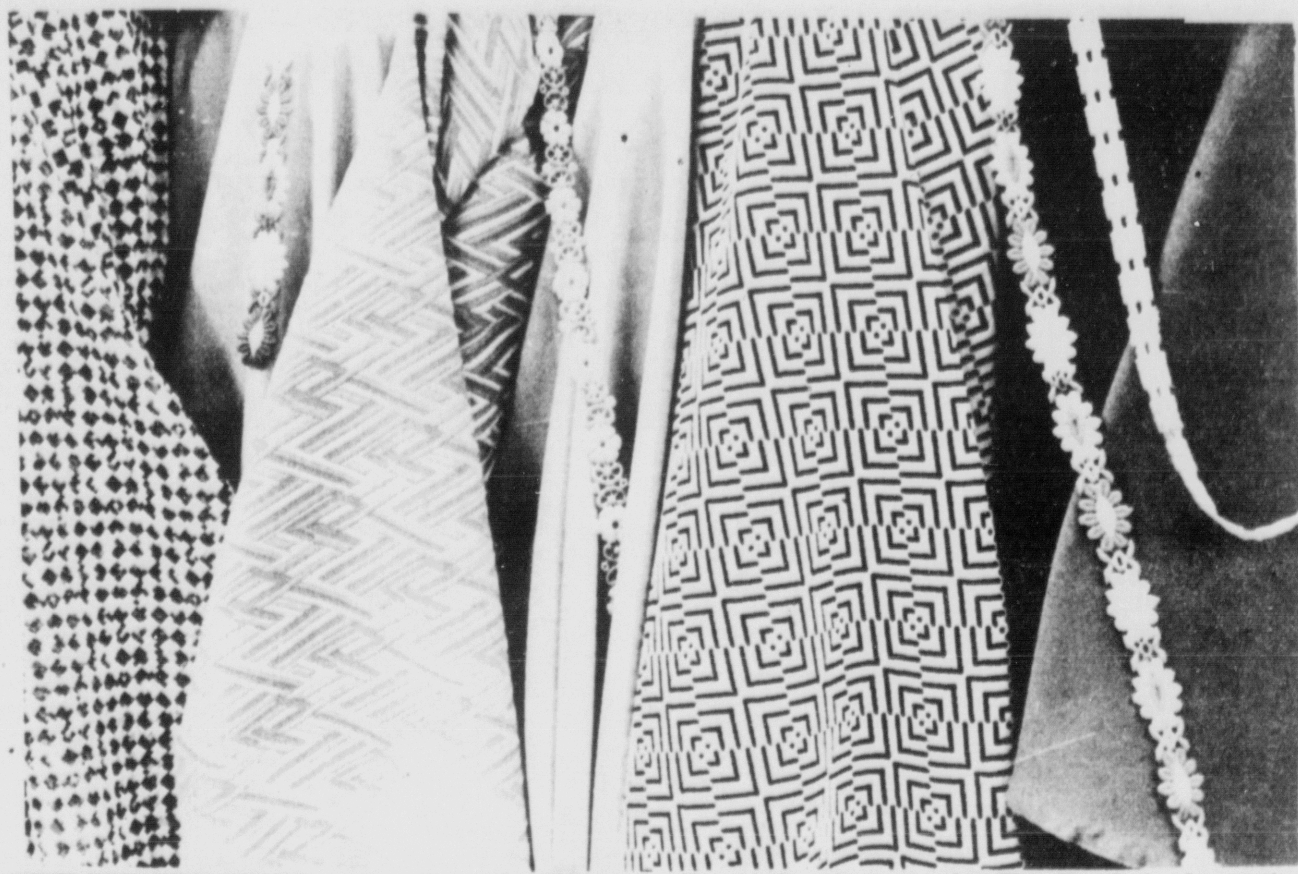

So the kids will lose either way, just as terrorists who cannot find a base of public sympathy have always lost. All that they will accomplish is the rise of counterrepression to general applause.

THE next time you are in the post office look on their faces. Humorous faces. Fantastic faces. The faces of the most pathetic of all the damned-who-who think they love the people and cannot understand them.

Ann Landers

Wife Finds A Lover When Hubby Says No

Dear Ann Landers: I have been in telephone survey work for several months. It is fascinating and it is also frightening. I say frightening because, without even trying, I have been the recipient of information that could make certain individuals ideal victims of robbery, rape and worse.

Yesterday, for example, I learned such things as: Mrs. J.L.K. lives alone. She is hard of hearing and her sight is failing. Mrs. T. R.'s husband works nights. He doesn't get home until 4:30 a.m. At such-and-such address two children under 13 years of age are alone until 6:00 p.m. when their mother returns from work. At such-and-such a place there is never anyone home between 9:00 and 3:00 p.m. At another address there is no one home between 4:00 p.m. and midnight—but they always leave a light on "to fool people."

Please, Ann, tell your readers not to give out information to a stranger on the telephone. It might make them sitting ducks. Remind folks that a little caution can go a long way.—Heard It All

Dear All: We'd make a peach of a pair, you've heard it all and I've read it all. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: I was happy to see the letter from the woman who wrote that she was sick and tired of getting turned down by her husband. He was always too tired, or too busy, or he had a headache, or he had to see the finish of the late, late movie on TV. I've been down that road, too—and I can tell you it's a lonesome one.

About 15 months ago I came right out and announced to my husband that he was pushing me into another man's arms. I told him flatly I was too young and healthy to live a sexless life. He thought I was talking through my hat, but he was mistaken. The very next week I took a lover. I have never been happier or felt better in my life. My body no longer aches to be held. My lips no longer ache to be kissed. I am fulfilled and content. It's a glorious feeling to be wanted and loved.

I hope every man who turns his wife down will wonder if she wrote this letter. Don't print my city or state—let 'em guess.—Fulfilled

"On With The Wind: Martha Mitchell Speaks."

"Everyone in public life has a responsibility to the American public and should not say 'no comment' unless they have no opinion," says the wife of Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell.

Mrs. Mitchell is a lady who has opinions, and most of them are in the book.

Of her husband: "He is unique. He's so tall and handsome. He's a very impressive man. He's one of those people who if you don't know him you could walk into a roomful of 100 people and you would find yourself looking at him."

Of life in America: "Man has been given his freedom to a greater extent than ever, and that's quite wrong."

The book was compiled by Amram Ducovny, a free-lance writer, and illustrated by Peter Green, who did the drawings for "The Wisdom of Spiro T. Agnew."

"I have a complete blank when it comes to dates," Mrs. Mitchell is quoted. "It must come from when I studied history and had so many dates to remember, starting with the beginning of the world."

Opposite a drawing of a smiling, flower-offering Martha, is the quotation: "Wouldn't Martha Mitchell's America be wonderful — an America free of war, with the solution of all social problems and everyone with love in his heart and affection for his neighbor?"

DUNKING RULE

The no dunking rule will be enforced this season by all officials in the state. It is the responsibility of the school administration and the coach to see that no dunking, grasping rim or basket, or other prohibited acts occur during the game. All officials are required to penalize and not overlook infractions when observed. We hope that administrators will accept this responsibility concerning the dunking rule.

OFFICIALS AUTHORITY

The game rules make it clear that the official is an authority at an athletic contest. This authority carries with it certain responsibilities that must be assumed by the official. Some of these are spelled out in the rules themselves. Others are just implied.

There are situations that arise during athletic contests that do not at the moment appear to be fully the responsibility of the official. An example is a possible error made by the scorer or time at a basketball game. The scorer and timer have responsibilities and should fully assume them. Manuals are provided the schools to make these clear.

Occasionally, a coach will "get out of line" during a contest in response to an error made by a scorer or timer. Some officials under these circumstances will give their attention only to what might be misconduct on the part of the coach. However, any time there is reason to believe that possible error might have occurred, or be in the making, the superior official will check to make certain that all is proper before proceeding with the game. This is an indirect, if not a direct responsibility of the referee. To avoid problems from arising officials are urged to be alert to possible protests that might result from an error by a timer or scorer. In such cases, it is recommended that the official use his authority and call a time-out and investigate and see whether such is the case.

Officials, too, should make every attempt to work cooperatively with school administrators. The fact that the MSHSAA Board of Control is exerting effort to see that officials are treated courteously also implies that it is a responsibility of the officials to be courteous toward coaches and school representatives. Only by mutual cooperation between officials and school representatives can we provide the best possible programs for the high school youth.

The use of proper officiating mechanics cannot be over-emphasized. The MSHSAA strongly urges all officials to follow the officiating procedures and mechanics contained in the Officials Manual for each sport.

These manuals contain the positions, duties, and proper mechanics and procedures for all sports. It is especially important for all new officials to study closely the information contained in the manual for their respective sport(s). Officials Manuals are published in basketball, football, wrestling, and baseball.

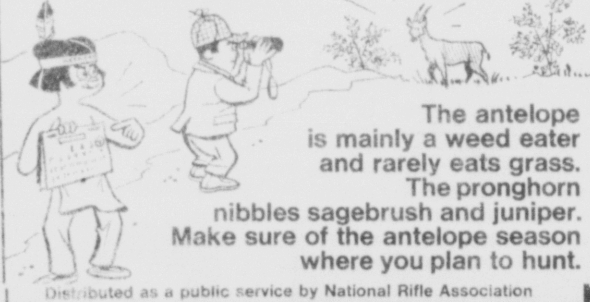

Another part of the officials responsibility is to be on time for the game. Plan to be there early. The time preceding the game can be used to confer with fellow officials. Go over some pertinent phases of the rules. Agree on a set of secret signals for announcing opinions concerning scores. Talk over the general plan of administering free throws, positions, touchdown plays, etc. Many of these items may be found in the Official Manuals for each sport.

In your attitude toward players and coaches, be kind and polite but firm. It is a big order and few officials ever fill it completely. But this is what it takes to become a good official. Be firm, but not overbearing. Be friendly to players but avoid "kidding" on the floor or field. Be dignified but never cocky.

Always strive to improve. The game of officiating has no place for an official who doesn't want to improve himself. Give attention to such factors as rules examinations grades, ratings received from schools, attendance at rules meetings, and the filing of special reports.

It is a responsibility that a person assumes as an MSHSAA official to work closely with member schools in the evaluation of their athletic programs. This is an important responsibility and one which officials should take seriously as it serves as a vehicle through which the schools can improve the programs for their students. The program of evaluation will be used in all sports and consists of two types of reports, a school evaluation card and a special report form. We ask that each official weigh carefully the phases that are included on the front of the report for the school evaluation card. This form is to be used voluntarily to report to the principal or athletic director phases of the school's program which are in need of improvement. It is a responsibility of the official to report the phases that do need improvement to the proper authority. The official dodges his responsibility when he does not do this if he feels there are phases of the program that do need correction.

LAND BANK TO MAKE NEW KIND OF FARM LOAN
NEW OPEN-END FARM LOAN OFFERS A GUARANTEED LINE OF CREDIT FOR FARMERS

Hal F. Robertson, Manager of the Federal Land Bank Associations of Sikeston, Missouri announced the new loan plan locally today as being a breakthrough in long-term credit offered to farmers. This new loan plan is called the OPEN-END FARM LOAN. "We have all heard of OPEN-END loans," said Robertson, "but never before have OPEN-END FARM LOANS been offered to farm owners on a long-term basis with a guaranteed line of credit."

"We are expecting a great deal of interest by farmers in this new plan because of its need and simplicity. Essentially the plan is this. The association and land bank establish a maximum line of credit and obligate themselves to advance loans up to that maximum amount for periods of 5 or 10 years depending on whether the loan is written for 20 or 26 to 35 years."

"What are the advantages? Quite a few," says Robertson. "The way I see it, a farmer owning or buying land can benefit from this new OPEN-END FARM LOAN because (1) he will have a guaranteed line of credit, (2) he will be able to take advantage of opportunities for capital investments quickly, (3) he can plan his financing of capital needs over a given number of years, (4) he will have more flexibility in the use of long-term credit and (5) he can get his long-term money more quickly without the expense he would have to pay to get a new loan."

When will the new OPEN-END FARM LOAN be available? "Right now," said Robertson. Details of the OPEN-END FARM LOAN are available at the Federal Land Bank Loan Association of Sikeston, Missouri.

Pace Pros

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Jones boys are two of a kind... and that's two too many for the Utah Stars.

Steve Jones hit two crucial baskets among his 25 points and Jimmy Jones pitched in 24 to pace the Memphis Pros to a 107-102 American Basketball Association victory over the Stars Friday night.

Steve Jones' two baskets in the last two minutes gave the Pros a six-point cushion at 101:05 and nailed down the game.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Virginia Squires defeated the Carolina Cougars 136-121.

In the National Basketball Association, it was Phoenix 127, Atlanta 115; New York 115, Buffalo 102; Cincinnati 117, Cleveland 100; Baltimore 128, Chicago 112; Philadelphia 105, Detroit 100 and Los Angeles 123, Boston 113.

Zelmo Beaty, who scored 32 points, led Memphis to an early 10-point lead at 18:30, but the Stars rallied behind the Jones boys to tie it at 49 at the half. The lead changed hands several times before Steve Jones put the game out of reach.

Charlie Scott scored 29 points and Jim Ekins hit for 22 and hauled in 19 rebounds to lead Virginia's runaway triumph that boosted the Squires' Eastern Division lead over Kentucky to a full game.

AWARD

Veteran Detroit Tigers outfielder Al Kaline has been voted the 1970 Hutch Award by major league baseball writers and broadcasters.

The award, sponsored by the Fred Hutchinson Cancer Scholarship Fund Inc., is voted to a major league player who best exemplifies the competitive instincts and character of the late Cincinnati Reds manager.

Hutchinson, who died of cancer in November 1964 while serving as the Reds' pitcher, managed Kaline when he broke into the majors as an 18-year-old bonus rookie in 1953. Kaline, the youngest man ever to win the American League batting crown with a .340 mark in 1955, carries a lifetime hitting average of .298.

Kaline's closest competition in 1970 voting came from Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs.

McCOVEY TOPS

Willie McCovey's .612 slugging average was tops in the 1970 National League season, official statistics released today showed.

The San Francisco first baseman gained 303 total bases in 495 at-bats for the title, mainly because of his 39 home runs, 39 doubles and 2 triples.

The slugging average is computed by dividing the total bases a player gains on hits into the number of times he has been at bat.

McCovey's batting average was only .289.

Finishing behind McCovey in slugging were Tony Perez of Cincinnati at .589 and Johnny Bench of Cincinnati at .587.

Miscellaneous statistics, helpful in midwinter trivia contests, show that McCovey also drew the most walks, 137, and the most intentional walks, 40.

His Giant teammate Bobby Bonds led the league for the third straight year in the number of times struck by a pitch, 26.

Bonds also struck out the most times, 189, a major league record. But he also grounded into the fewest double plays, six, in a tie with swift Willie Davis of Los Angeles.

Cleon Jones of New York grounded into the most double plays, 26.

CHAPTER I

RULES DIFFERENCES FROM LAST EDITION and RECENT INTERPRETATIONS

1-5: A designated fourth lane space along the free throw lane has been added.

1-14: The placement of players benches along sideline is recommended.

2-8: Jurisdiction of officials starts 30 minutes before scheduled game time.

3-3: Prior to the start of the second half substitutions may be made to the scorer by either the substitute or team representatives.

3-4 Note: Solid colored shirts will be required beginning 1973-74 season.

4-4: Addition of a definition of boundary lines indicating inside edge of lines define inbounds and out of bounds areas.

4-8 Ques. 4: Legal to toss ball from hand to hand so long as foot movements do not exceed that of limitations while holding the ball.

4-13: A team's fore-court is now defined as that area of front-court other than mid-court.

4-27: Definition of a try is expanded and definition of act of shooting has been added.

5-9(a): Only one time-out may be charged for replacing injured player if it exceeds 1½ minutes.

6-14: Non-jumpers may not change position on restraining circle after official is ready to make toss.

9-1(b) (3): Neither offense nor defense may enter or leave four designated lane spaces once the ball has been placed at the disposal of the free thrower.

10-1(a): Television monitoring or replay equipment at courtside for coaching purposes is prohibited.

10-9: Situations in which coach may legally leave bench enumerated.

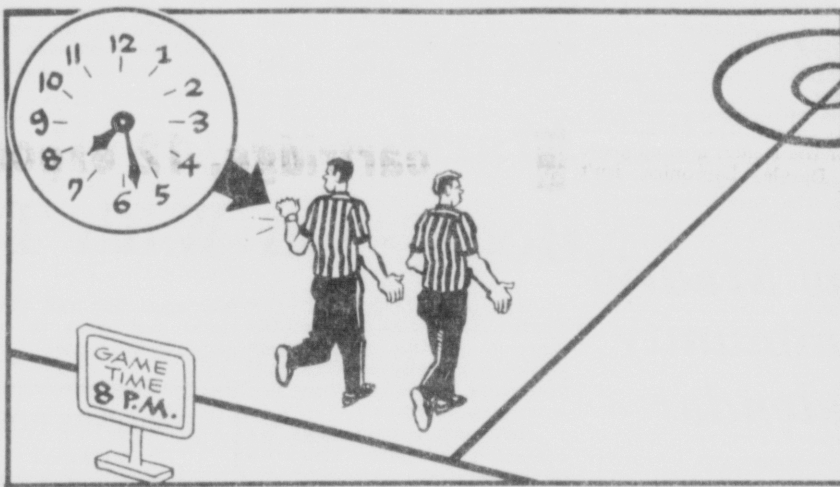

10-9 Penalty: Penalty for dunking prior to game or during game included.

10-9 Penalty: Third technical foul charged to any coach or any squad member or any bench personnel is considered flagrant and requires banishment.

10-10 Screener (d): Clarification of a moving screen.

COMMENTS ON THE RULES: Dunking violations in pre-game practice or warm-up are not permitted and shall be penalized. Officials jurisdiction starts 30 minutes prior to game time.

POINTS OF EMPHASIS: The Rules Committee uses each edition of the Rules Books to emphasize certain aspects of the game which need special attention. These are identified as Points of Emphasis. For the coming year, the areas designated are: Bench Decorum, Backing In Is Charging, Jump Balls, and Free-Throw Violation.

The officials' jurisdiction begins ½ hour before game time and continues through the referee's approval of the final score.

Substitutions prior to start of second half must be made prior to signal signifying end of the intermission and may be made by the substitute or a representative of his team from the bench.

Texas Keeps No. 1 Ranking

Darrell Royal's unbeaten Texas Longhorns, operating from an exciting pass-run option setup called the Wishbone T formation, averaged 41.2 points a game to become the nation's No. 1 college football team for the second straight year.

On the way to their third straight Southwest Conference title and seventh for their coach, the Orange and White from Austin ran their winning streak to 30 straight, highest at the moment.

Unbeaten Okla State was ranked second in the Associated Press regular season poll. The Buckeyes gave Woody Hayes, the robust coach who often wears thermal underwear beneath rolled up shirt sleeves, his fifth Big Ten championship in 20 seasons at Columbus. His seniors played in 28 games, winning all but one.

It was the year of the quarterback and fitting that two of the top passers, Jim Plunkett of Stanford and Joe Theismann of Notre Dame, should finish 1-2 for the Heisman Award, a trophy recognizing the nation's outstanding senior gridman. More than 900 voted.

Though Coach John Ralston's Indians dropped three of 11 games, the number permitted in 1970 because of economic conditions, Plunkett led the Cardinal and White to the Pacific

Eight championship and its first Rose Bowl appearance since 1952.

Plunkett, the kind of a drop back passer in demand by pro teams, set a total offense record of 7887 yards for three years. In 1970 he racked up 2898 yards. He accounted for 21 touchdowns, all but three of them via the airways.

Other outstanding quarterbacks were Bob Parker of Air Force, Rex Kern of Ohio State, Archie Manning of Mississippi, Pat Sullivan of Auburn, Brian Sipe of San Diego State, Dan Fouts of Oregon, John Reeves of Florida, Dennis Dummit of UCLA, Leo Hart of Duke, Indian Sonny Sixkiller of Washington and a few others.

Sixkiller, a sophomore, will bear watching the next two seasons for he led the nation in averaging 18.6 completions a game for a team with a 6-4 record.

Ed Marinaro, a Cornell junior, paced the rushers, averaging 158.3 yards a game while rushing for 12 of 14 TDs. Halfback Brian Bream of Air Force paced the scorers with 120 points, getting 19 of his 20 TDs via the rush. North Carolina's Don McCauley also scored 19 TD rushing and two more on pass catches. He had the nation's top rushing figure, 1720 yards.

MU A Surprise

By ROBERT MOORE

Associated Press Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Kansas Coach Ted Owens expects trouble tonight when his Jayhawks meet Missouri in the second game of a doubleheader opening the Big Eight preseason basketball tournament.

"Missouri has a chance to be a lot better than a year ago," said Owens as he watched his team work out Friday night in Municipal Auditorium. "Their physical potential is better than a year ago. There are two teams here which have come along better than people thought—Missouri and Oklahoma State."

Oklahoma, the defending champion, collides with Iowa State at 7 p.m., CST. Eighth-ranked Kansas meets Missouri at 10 o'clock.

Kansas, Missouri, Iowa State and Oklahoma all used the auditorium floor in practice Friday. The other four clubs play Monday night when Oklahoma State, 44, battles Nebraska, 8-1, and Colorado, 4-2, tests Kansas State, 4-4.

Kansas is the favorite to win the tournament and the Big Eight title when the regular season opens.

The Jayhawks, 6-1, must face Oklahoma, 6-1; Nebraska or Colorado if they get by the Tigers, 7-2.

Kansas has a powerful also has been getting a lot of mileage from Bob Allen, Mike and Roger Brown. Stallworth Jeffries, Orv Salmon and Greg Flaker. He may start sophomore game and Brown has an average of 13.3 rebounds a game plus a 14.1 scoring average.

"If we had beaten Louisville," Owens said, "I would say we would have the most impressive record coming into this tournament. I'm glad we've won as much as we have."

Asked if Kansas might be looking past Missouri, Owens replied:

"Oh, my, no."

About Dave Robisch, who led the Big Eight in scoring last season, Owens said:

"Dave isn't playing anywhere near as good as he can play. The first two or three weeks of practice, he played the best I've seen him play. I can't explain what has happened."

Kansas scouted Missouri in its 94-75 loss to top-ranked UCLA Tuesday night.

"We thought it was a pretty even game," Owens said, "except for that stretch just before the half."

Owens plans to start Aubrey Nash tonight in place of Bob Kivisto.

Missouri's Henry Smith, a 6-foot-7 senior, may be a great player before the season ends. He is averaging nearly double his 12.6 point output of last season.

Tiger Coach Norm Stewart said Kansas has been getting a lot of mileage from Bob Allen, Mike and Roger Brown. Stallworth Jeffries, Orv Salmon and Greg Flaker. He may start sophomore

John Brown against the Jayhawks. Brown, a 6-foot-7 giant, missed Missouri's first eight games because of a broken foot.

Owens said Oklahoma scored the most impressive victory of any Big Eight team this season when they edged Illinois.

The Sooners have tremendous balance with Bobby Jack, Scott Martin, Clifford Ray and Charles Hardin.

Iowa State, 2-6, will yield board strength to the Sooners but will stack up favorably in height. Jack DeVilder, the Cyclone captain, and three teammates were hit by stomach flu Friday but Coach Gene Anderson hopes they'll be ready tonight.

Besides DeVilder, the young Cyclones are led by Rick Engel and Gene Mack. Anderson said Gene Mack. Anderson said Iowa State is eliminating its mistakes and "starting to fit the pieces together."

Semifinals are scheduled Tuesday and the final Wednesday.

College Basketball Tournament

The merry round of holiday college basketball tournaments that have increased in popularity year by year during the last two decades, shifts into high gear tonight.

Seven major tourneys, in which five of the Top Ten in The Associated Press rankings are competing, lead off the action that reaches its peak next week with 21 more major extravaganzas listed to start, in addition to many minor ones.

Numerous holiday tourneys already have been held, such as the Jayhawk Classic, Lobo Invitational, Cornhusker Classic, Sun Bowl, Kentucky Invitational, Utah Classic, Vanderbilt Invitational, Volunteer Classic, Michigan Invitational, Mountaineer Classic, Bluebonnet Classic, Texas Classic, Cable Car Classic, Bayou Classic and Marshall Invitational.

With top-ranked UCLA and third-ranked Marquette awaiting the tipoff in the Steel Bowl and Milwaukee Classic next week, second-ranked South Carolina and fifth-ranked Pennsylvania top today's action.

Eighth-ranked Kansas takes on Missouri in the first round of the Big Eight at Kansas City. Ninth-ranked Drake opposes the Canisius in the first round of the Queen City Classic at Buffalo, N.Y. and No. 10 Western Kentucky, fresh from Wednesday's upset of fourth-ranked Jacksonville, opposes St. Peter's in another first rounder at the Holiday Festival.

Four teams in The AP Second Ten also see tourney action tonight.

No. 11 Indiana takes on Washington State and 17th-ranked Oregon opposes San Jose State in the first round of the Far West Classic at Portland, Ore. Villanova, 13th ranked, faces Illinois in the opening of the Rainbow Classic at Honolulu and No. 19 St. John's of New York plays Holy Cross in still another first rounder of the Holiday Festival.

The oldest holiday tournament of them all, the All-College at Oklahoma City, which started back in 1935, also gets under way tonight. Louisiana State is pitted against DePaul and Oklahoma City encounters Montana State.

A PERFECT GAME of 300 was the reward of Mike Duke, scoring the first such game in Southeast Missouri. The mark was scored in Winter League competition at the D and M Archery Lanes here in Sikeston. First place honors in league play went to Arnold Stone and Sam Nicholson, while Steve Duke, John Bradley, Steve Taylor, and Bobby Taylor picked up second place finishes. Third place finishes went to Larry Hendricks, Mike Duke, Donald Lynn, and Arnie Stone. Bill Taylor and Rex Mullendore scored fourth place finishes. Winter League competition gets under way Monday, December 28, before the league returns to its regular Thursday night matches in January.

Peaceful Afternoon

By Hal Bock
Associated Press Sports Writer
Four National Football League teams spent a peaceful afternoon today, lounging in front of television sets to watch four others bang heads as the conference playoffs got underway.

But the resting ends Sunday for the Miami Dolphins and Oakland Raiders, set to clash in an American Conference showdown on the West Coast, and the Minnesota Vikings and San Francisco 49ers, who'll be going against each other in a National Conference game at Minneapolis-St. Paul.

In today's games, Cincinnati played at Baltimore and Detroit was at Dallas as the NFL's Super Bowl countdown began. Conference championship games are scheduled for Jan. 3 with the winners advancing to the Jan. 17 Super Bowl at Miami.

The Dolphins, enjoying their first taste of post-season competition, would like nothing better than to be the host team for that Jan. 17 date in Miami. But to accomplish that, Miami will have to get past Oakland and its late-game lightning.

The Raiders strung together a streak of hairbreadth finishes to capture the Western Division crown, most of them accomplished with the aging but remarkably accurate toe of George Blanda in the middle of the heroics.

But the Dolphins figure they have a kicking match for Blanda in stumpish Gary Yepremian, the 5-foot-8 native of Cyprus who kicked 22 field goals this season and set a Miami club record with 97 points.

Larry Csonka, No. 2 rusher in the American Conference, gives Miami a power runner to balance the passing of quarterback Bob Griese. Csonka gained 874 yards - 13 more than Oakland's Hewitt Dixon, who handles the bulk of the Raider ground game when Daryle Lamonia isn't throwing.

Frigid weather - a normal climate for this time of year - was expected in Minnesota for the Vikings' clash with San Francisco.

The 49ers have the top quarterback in the National Conference in veteran John Brodie whose 24 touchdown passes were the best total in the NFL.

Brodie's top receiver is Gene Washington, whose 53 catches were fourth best in pro football this season. Ironically, the Vikings No. 1 receiver is also named Gene Washington. Minnesota's Washington had 44 receptions.

BANGKOK (AP) — Asian athletes showed their progress over the last four years, breaking 21 Asian Games records and tying one in 35 events in six days of track and field competition ending Tuesday.

Dickey Has It All

MIAMI (AP) — Lynn Dickey gave the appearance of a Joe Namath with healthy knees.

Flashy white football shoes, long hair and an arm of gold.

"We hit them up the middle with passes," said the Kansas State quarterback. "Their linebackers didn't seem to react. So, we kept firing."

The handsome 6-foot-4 Dickey hit 14 of 27 passes for 180 yards and was named most valuable player in the North's 28-7 victory over the South in Friday's Shrine All-Star game.

It was the North's fifth straight success in the event.

"These are good athletes, all of them," said Dickey. "But, I think it was a case of the North having a little edge in major college talent."

All in all, it was a big day for the Big Eight Conference. Dickey, North Coach Vince Gibson and top Yank pass receiver Mike Montgomery are all from Kansas State.

Kansas runner John Riggins gained 96 yards in 20 carries and scored on romps of 13 and eight yards to far outflank the ball carriers from both sides.

Larry Brown of Kansas grabbed five passes for 24 yards and Otto Stowe of Iowa State caught four for 51 yards.

Every one of them represents the Big Eight.

"I'd say the difference was our quarterbacks," said Gibson. "My Kansas State boy, Dickey, did his usual fine job, but don't forget Ken Anderson pitched in with some good throwing, too."

Anderson, from tiny Augustana College, hit 8 of 20 for 77 yards.

Interceptions — six of them— were the South's bugaboo. Colorado's Jim Cooch was the peskiest defender, grabbing two.

Richmond quarterback Charlie Richards, who was playing for his college boss, Frank Jones of the Spiders, connected on 15 of 36 passes, but the scrambling Richards was intercepted four times.

Small college terror Jim Lindsey of Abilene Christian completed 5 of 11 for 62 yards in a brief appearance before the small crowd of 15,402.

A fat television contract that paid the sponsoring Shriners a record $110,000 turned the game into a profitable venture.

Sam Scarber backed up Riggins with 57 yards on the ground and the massive 231-pound runner tallied the North's first touchdown on a three-yard romp.

Trailing all the way, the South used its ground game infrequently.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The engagement of President Nixon's elder daughter, Tricia, to a Harvard University law student will be announced sometime during the holidays, the Philadelphia Inquirer said today. The newspaper said the prospective bridegroom is Edward Finch Cox, son of Army Col. and Mrs. Howard Ellis Cox of Manhattan and Westhampton, N.Y.

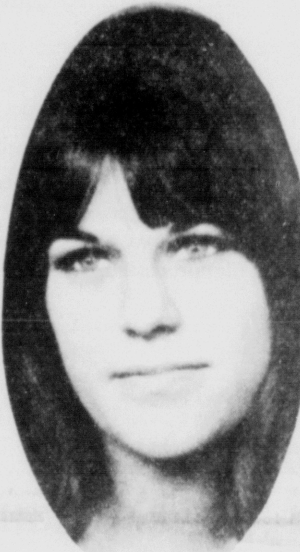

Both Miss Nixon and Cox are 24.

A source "close to the White House" was credited with the information.

The Inquirer said an anonymous White House spokesman would not confirm the report, but quoted him as saying: "I am not knocking it down. Everything points to it. It wouldn't surprise me."

Cox declined comment.

Tricia's dates with the 6-foot-1 Princeton graduate have received considerable publicity.

Beverly Ingram

Ingram-Carney

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn F. Ingram of 704 Hickory Drive, Sikeston, announce the engagement of their daughter, Beverly Jo, to James D. Carney, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Dale Carney of Jefferson City.

Bridging '30s-'70s Gap

The leading suit couturier of the West Coast executes the pant-suit (left) in a fingertip length, double-breasted baby coat of camel, white and gray French imported Rimone's plaid flannel. Designer Paul Schnell has combined this with a polo shirt of Berracco's double knit. The elongated polo shirt falls over a pair of mantailored flannel gray trumpet pants. The coat (right) is the personification of two eras. It builds a bridge that gaps the '30s with the '70s. It is belted loosely as a bathrobe-type camel-hair coverall over an English import plaid worsted pant in camel, white and gray. These designs are from Ernst Strauss, Master Tailor.

STYLISH KNIT-PICKING — Double knit cotton provides two fashionable ways to keep your knits about you comfortably this fall. Ideal for classroom or office wear is the long-sleeved dirndl dress with body-hugging shirt top and wide side belts that tie in back. At right, a chevron-patterned pantsuit with long fitted tunic jacket and flare pants with fly front. Both designed by Wayne Rogers for No Comment.

Big Lake Fund at Three Fourths Mark

CHARLESTON — Paced by a gift of $500 from the City Council of East Prairie and the donation of 72 acres of land by the City of Charleston, the drive to raise funds for the proposed Big Lake recreation project reached approximately three-fourths of its $12,000 goal this week.

Marion Waggener and L.D. Davis Jr., co-chairmen of the fund-raising drive, said the advanced gifts portion of the campaign has just about concluded, and the committee is now asking for contributions from all interested persons in Mississippi County.

"We are counting on everyone — but particularly our county's fishermen and sportsmen — to contribute enough additional money to put the drive over the top."

The $12,000 will be used to purchase the rest of the 143-acre tract on which the State Conservation Commission will develop a permanent 110-acre fishing lake.

All gifts — small or large — will be welcome in the land purchase drive, the chairmen said.

Persons wishing to donate may send their check to Bill Russell, treasurer of the Mississippi County Recreation Association, or to Mr. Waggener of Mr. Davis.

The chairmen today released the following list of donors to the lake project, and asked that if anyone's name has been left off the list, that person should get in touch with either Waggener or Davis. Here are the contributors, as of Tuesday afternoon.

Power of Christmas Pierces Iron Curtain

VIENNA (UPI) — Christmas has won the battle with Communism in Eastern Europe. While Stalin lived, Communist authorities in the Soviet bloc tried to replace the Christmas symbols of the birth of Christ with Russia's secular "Grandfather Frost." That attempt has been abandoned.

Instead, Christmas, 1970 was celebrated in Czechoslovakia, Poland and Hungary — the predominantly Roman Catholic nations of Eastern Europe — in the traditional way, with all the trimmings.

Starting Dec. 24, official life in the three nations came to an almost complete halt.

State-owned radio stations turn off marches, turn on Christmas carols. State-run offices and factories close down to give all employees enough time to celebrate Christmas — although workers work extra shifts before and after the holiday to make up for the lost time.

In Romania and Bulgaria, the religious holiday is delayed until Jan. 6, because the predominant Eastern Orthodox Church still abides by the old prerevolutionary calendar. Czechoslovakia, Hungary and Poland join the rest of the Christian world in celebrating on Dec. 25.

Christmas shopping in Eastern Europe is a bit more complicated than in the West. Although the consumer goods situation is improving, shops often have more customers than gifts and it may take many expeditions until all the presents are bought.

On Christmas Eve, decorated Christmas trees are lit. Millions of children who are "Young Pioneers" or "Lening Youth" the rest of the year, wait anxiously for the slow tinkling of the bell calling them into the family living room to get their gifts.

It is not Santa Claus who brings the presents, but the Christ child himself — or Jezekiel (little Jesus) as he is called in Czechoslovakia — who flies from house to house loading the tables with gifts.

All gifts are given on Christmas Eve, so there are no stockings to fill.

After the gifts, families gather for Christmas Eve dinner — a feast of fish soup, fried carp with French salad and vegetables, followed by many tiny cookies which mothers bake the week before.

Midnight mass always fills the churches with persons who do not go to church the rest of the year. In mountain regions such as Czechoslovakia's high Tatras, the faithful often must walk for miles through high snow to get to church.

Villagers in the Hungarian countryside stage costume plays depicting Christmases of long ago.

Christmas is a family affair in Eastern Europe. There is much visiting of friends and relatives. On Christmas Day itself, the tables are filled with goose or turkey, dumplings and cabbage, all washed down by wine and local liqueurs.

Nazarenes to Expand World Mission Work

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Church of the Nazarene plans to expand its world missions program next year into Indonesia, Ecuador and the Bahamas Islands.

The Department of World Missions, in making the announcement, said the expansion will bring to 53 the number of nations or world areas in which the denomination has gospel work. More than 600 missionaries, teachers, doctors, nurses and builders are maintained abroad.

Plans are being made for the first Nazarene South America preachers' conference at Cordova, Argentine Nov. 22-26, 1971.

Church Built of One Redwood Tree Dedicated to Ripley

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP) — A century-old church built with the wood of a single redwood tree was dedicated Monday to the man who made it famous—Robert L. Ripley, the "Believe It or Not" cartoonist.

The church will house Ripley's personal papers, articles and memorabilia. The public opening is scheduled for April.

Ripley, who was born here in 1893 and died in 1948, told in one of his cartoons of the church built with 78,000 board feet from the single tree.

The POWER of FAITH

BY

WOODI ISHMAEL

Joseph, husband of Mary, has always remained in the background. Yet he was obviously a man of great faith and strength, for he accepted the explanation of the virgin birth that an angel had given him in a dream.

Joseph was of the house of David. He was a carpenter and a practical man who worked with his hands. The problems of business then were probably no different than they are today. When the Roman taxes were levied on them this undoubtedly added another burden, for he was concerned about Mary, who was about to deliver the baby.

The long trip from Nazareth to Bethlehem was hard on Mary. This no doubt worried him. When they reached Bethlehem there was "no room in the inn." All he could find was a dilapidated dirty stable for the comfort of Mary and the baby Jesus. We can only surmise what went through his mind, maybe he felt that he had failed. Much is to be learned from Joseph, for with all his worries he accepted on faith all the bewildering events that led up to the birth of Jesus.

Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men Ex-Marine Pays Sailor's Fare From Vietnam for Christmas

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — J. Vernon Harwell paid the air fare home on Christmas leave for a sailor he had never met and took him out for dinner because he knows how it feels to be lonely at Christmas.

Harwell offered to pay the $80 air fare for any serviceman from New Mexico who was eligible but couldn't afford to take advantage of the new Vietnam leave opportunity.

Navy Storeke per 3 C. Tony Ray Davis, stationed at Csm Ranb, jumped at the chance. Davis, 25, originally from Carlsbad, was one of about 400 servicemen who left Saigon leave," he said. "We're going to Christmas Day in chartered jetliners for the two-week Albuquerque Country Club for holiday leave.

"I couldn't believe it at first. This is the best Christmas present I've ever had," Davis said on arrival Friday night in the Albuquerque. He planned to go to Carlsbad today to visit friends, then to Port Lavaca, Tex., where his family now lives.

Harwell, whose son-in-law is in the Navy, said he and his family were going to Hawaii for the holidays.

"But we're going to give this kid a good time before we leave," he said. "We're going to take him out to the Albuquerque Country Club for holiday leave and give him some money to spend while he's home."

"I kind of know how those boys feel at Christmas because I spent three of them in the Pacific during World War II. It wasn't much fun."

Harwell, now a distributor for a peanut company, spent wartime yules with the 2nd Marines on Guadalcanal, Tarawa and Saipan.

Davis, who had been in Vietnam 4 1/2 months, said he never will forget his benefactor.

Free Christmas Party Provided for 250 Old, Poor, Rejected Guests

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 250 guests were old, poor and unaccustomed to parties. Many had expected to spend Christmas Day in a hotel lobby. Instead they were laughing, singing carols and shaking hands with Santa Claus.

The party was the idea of Doug Ring, 26, a marketing man, and Ted Clabaugh, 32, a lawyer. It was held in the auditorium of an old hotel.

The guests came from nine rooming houses and cheap hotels. The letter-sized invitations had said that everyone was invited for entertainment and refreshments-free-Christmas Day.

A dairy donated 25 gallons of eggnog. A bank and an insurance company gave Christmas trees, a bakery the pastry, a bottling company the soft drinks, a printing company the invitations.

Even as they passed out the invitations, people kept asking what was in it for the sponsors. They wanted to know what the "angle" was. A hotel desk clerk asked for $10 before letting Ring and Clabaugh pass out the

Annual Dinner For Lonely Draws 32

WINFIELD, Kan. (AP) — The third annual Christmas Day dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Prather for lonely people anywhere drew 32 guests Friday.

There were 29 at the first dinner in 1968, and there were 26 last year.

Prather, 84, remembered how lonely he was 34 years ago at Christmas when he was single and spent the day alone near Belle Plaine, Kan.

Deciding to do something about it, the Prathers issued the dinner invitation. All they ask is that guests bring their own table service and phone or write in advance that they are coming.

This time the diners came from Oklahoma, Missouri and these communities in Kansas—Harper, Anthony, Clearwater, Udall and Arkansas City.

The dinner was served in the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

Stranded Soldier

Aided by Missouri

Highway Patrolmen

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Master Sgt. French J. Lay was stranded in the wee hours Christmas Day at Lambert St. Louis airport.

He made it 10,000 miles from Vietnam on a chartered flight but was unable to find any way of traveling the final 106 miles to visit his wife and two daughters in Rolla, Mo.

The Army veteran lamented to an airport policeman. Word was passed to the Missouri Highway Patrol and soon, after a relay of five patrol cars, Sgt. Lay was home.

"I sure want to thank all those troopers," he said.

After his leave is ended on Jan. 4 he has to return to Vietnam to finish his tour.

Rev. Hoffman In Vietnam For Christmas

SAIGON (AP) — The narrator of The Lutheran Hour radio program arrived in Saigon with 21,000 copies of a Psalm Book he said was rewritten in the language of "modern man."

The paperback books and about 20,000 crosses will be distributed to GIs in Vietnam and Korea during the Christmas season, the Rev. Oswald Hoffmann told newsmen.

The Rev. Mr. Hoffmann, president of The Lutheran Council in the United States and a speaker on Lutheran Hour programs since 1955, was invited to spend the holidays in Vietnam by Gen. Creighton Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam.

The Psalm Book, subtitled "Today's English Version," was published Dec. 1 by The American Bible Society. A statement by the society said it "joins the Society's best selling translation of the New Testament," which appeared in 1966.

The revised 61st Psalm has special meaning for the American servicemen overseas, the St. Louis clergyman added. It reads in part:

"Hear my cry, God; listen to my prayer! In my despair far from home, I call to You!"

"Take me to a safe refuge, because You are my protector, my strong defender against my enemies."

The book's version of the 68th Psalm might sound familiar to the ears of veterans of Vietnam combat. A prayer to God to punish the wicked, it says at one point that "in his fierce anger God will blow them away."

Entertainer Cancels Night Club Bookings

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Country and western singer Jerry Lee Lewis has canceled his night club bookings and will henceforth appear only at places where there is no dancing or liquor, an associate says.

Ray Brown of National Artists' Attractions said Thursday Lewis made the decision because of his religion. The singer is a member of the Church of God.

Unique Law Turns Frowns Into Smiles

MULBERRY, Fla. (AP) — There's a special kind of ordinance in Mulberry—one that usually leaves convicted offenders happy. The "Christmas Law" applies only once a year.

Six motorists from the North fumed and fussed and one even pleaded guilty before he heard about the annual law of Mulberry Friday.

Only after Municipal Court Judge Carl Ellis finished a stern-faced lecture did the motorists learn why Police Chief Norris Nixon had pulled them in.

The judge, who doubles as mayor of this west-central Florida community, told them that police work hard and don't like their efforts going without reward.

"Because you were going to drive through Mulberry without stopping at city hall," Judge Ellis said, "the policeman had to bring you in to receive this gift box of fruit. Merry Christmas!"

The one-day ordinance was passed four years ago, making it illegal for an out-of-state motorist to pass through Mulberry without stopping to pick up a gift from the police department — so long as the supply of fruit holds out.

"Naturally, everybody we pick up thinks immediately that they're about to be fleeced of their vacation money by a small town cop and judge," Chief Norris said.

"I pull them over, ask for their licenses and tell them to follow me to the police station. The fireworks start when I tell them they've broken the Mulberry Christmas law."

Norris and Ellis make no effort to dispel the impression of a speed trap. One driver replied "guilty" when Ellis asked for a plea—without telling the charge.

The driver said he did it because he didn't believe there was a chance of beating a speed trap.

Coadjutor Bishop

Selection Made

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Rev. Arthur Anton Vogel of Nashotah, Wis., was elected coadjutor bishop by a special convention of the Episcopal Diocese of West Missouri Sunday.

Father Vogel, 46, has been professor of theology and subdean of Nashotah seminary since 1952.

The Rt. Rev. Edward R. Welles, who plans to retire as bishop of the diocese in 1975, said Father Vogel would succeed him as bishop if he accepts the election and is approved for the position.

Nationwide Evangelistic Effort Shapes for '73

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Editor

Three years ago, a group of church leaders concerned about the lagging state of evangelism in America met at a motel just off the Key Bridge linking Arlington, Va., to the Georgetown section of Washington, D.C.

Ever since then, continuing talks in various sections of the country about the problem have been known as the "Key Bridge Consultations."

The bridge name, honoring the memory of Francis Scott Key, who wrote the Star-Spangled Banner, has now come to be the designation for what is planned as a nationwide concentrated effort, in 1973, called "Key '73."

"We feel the right time has come for it," says the Rev. Dr. Theodore Raedeke, of St. Louis, newly named as executive director for the undertaking.

The decision to set up a national planning office in St. Louis, and the naming of Dr. Raedeke to head it beginning Jan. 1, was made at a meeting of leaders of more than 30 denominations there this month.

"Most of our largest denominations have committed themselves to this new venture," Dr. Raedeke says. "We feel that a coordinated, concerted focus on evangelism is long overdue."

In keeping the name, "Key," for the effort, a spokesman noted that the writer of the national anthem himself had been an ardent lay evangelist and that the starting hundreds of Sunday schools and other Christian work in the South.

Pope Raps Corrosive Criticism In Western Intellectual Centers

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has denounced intellectual centers in the West which he said aim "corrosive criticism" at the traditions of the Roman Catholic Church.

Making his annual Christmas address to cardinals stationed in Rome and other prelates of the Vatican Curia, the pontiff also denounced war and "regrettable political situations" in many countries and deplored Italy's new divorce law.

The Pope announced that his next synod of bishops in September will discuss the priesthood and "justice in the world."

He denounced "the movement of corrosive criticism towards the institutional Church, spreading from not a few intellectual centers of the West—not excluding America—into ecclesial public opinion, especially among the young, a frame of mind that dissolves the certainty of faith and breaks down the organic body of ecclesial charity."

He said these challenges to the Church "weigh heavily on our heart" and "priestly defections gave him "an oppressive sense of sad wonder."

The Pope said the years since the last ecumenical council, Vatican II, would have been easier for the Church if "instead

"It was just the way the thing got started, and the name seemed an appropriate one so it just stuck," he added.

Impetus for the effort, which has come both inside and outside the major denominations, grew out of a feeling that many churches lately have played down direct, clear-cut appeals for commitment to Christ.

Dr. Raedeke, who is taking a leave from his post as secretary of evangelism of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod to head the planning secretariate, says a promising climate has developed for the national effort.

People are becoming more interdenominational evangelistic and more concerned," he says. "They realize something should and must be done."

"Our goal is to confront the people more fully and forcefully with the Gospel of Christ by proclamation and demonstration, by witness and ministry, by word and deed."

Other indices of religious life, such as financial support and attendance, also have shown a downward trend in recent years. The downturns have come in a period of keen tensions in the church over the related demands of the Gospel for declaring it and doing it, with much of the recent emphasis on applying it in action rather than evangelistic preaching.

Most all segments in the churches recognize that both national and local evangelism are important. But it has been an ardent lay evangelist and that the starting hundreds of Sunday schools and other Christian work in the South.

Missionaries' Good Lives After Them

By DAVID POLING

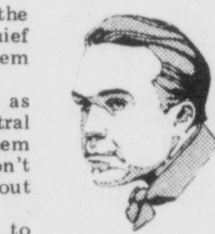

The Pope charged again that the Italian divorce law violated the 1929 Church-state concordat that gave civil effect to Church marriages.

He exhorted Italians "to remain solidly faithful, now and in the future, to their ancient and honorable traditions of respect for the Christian values of the family."

The Pope's speech contained fewer appeals for peace than his past discourses on the occasion. He said he felt sadness for the "Indochinese people," still tormented by war, and for the people of the war-torn Middle East.

He did not specify what countries he had in mind when he spoke of "regrettable political and social situations." But it was considered probable that he was referring to Spain, Poland and Brazil, three Catholic countries where there is strong public opposition to the government.

He urged prayers for peace on New Year's Day, which he has proclaimed a day of world prayer for the fourth straight year.

Missionaries' Good Lives After Them

By DAVID POLING

The shake-up in the finances of the American church has had vibrations around the world. A sharp reduction in overseas personnel and a severe limitation on new assignments have touched nearly every denomination that has a world missions budget.

Although this trend started quietly three or four years ago, the crunch hit like a ton of bricks during the recession of 1970. More than 100 Presbyterian teachers, evangelists and medical technicians returned last year alone. These cuts will continue and the perspective on overseas work faces a new question mark.

About a year ago this writer received a communication from a college classmate who has served various church organizations in the Philippines. He spoke of the events we have described, but not in the tone of distress or defeat.

"This is a definite period of transition for the church here. New leadership is taking over. There is the urgency for participating in the national goals of economic and social development of the Philippines. The final links of dependence on the supporting denominations in the States are weakening."

"The United Church of Christ, and other churches, too, have their eyes set more clearly on their own future as a people. They look to their own resources for leadership and to their local sources for support. When they need more money than can be found locally, they turn to various world or regional agencies for help, instead of depending only on American sources. This situation has partly been a result of the dwindling finances in the United States for work overseas."

The Christian community in the Far East, especially in Korea and Hong Kong, has shown unusual strength and vitality. These folk are not holding their breath for the next check from the States nor do they feel that their program of Christian education and outreach is going to collapse with the departure of Americans."

In his book, "For Instance," Donald T. Kauffman quotes the leading secular magazine in India. The Illustrated Weekly of India, and the surprising article entitled, "What India Owes Christianity." The Christian investment of lives and cash in this ancient land is staggering. "Christian endeavor has given India," says the author, "over 150 colleges, 2,177 high schools, 214 technical schools, 153 teachers' training schools, 620 hospitals, 670 dispensaries, 86 leprosy centers, 713 orphanages, 67 homes for the aged (are you still with us?), 681 hostels and welfare centers, 275 creches, 44 agricultural settlements, 27 industrial centers, and several institutions for the blind, the deaf and the handicapped." A. Soares, who gathered the information, asked a fair question: "What other community has done as much for our country?"

What happens when the missionaries leave? The work goes on and all the sponsors are local, lively and loving.

The POWER of FAITH

BY

WOODI ISHMAEL

For almost 2,000 years on the day the Christian world celebrates the birth of Christ, there has been a spirit of brotherhood and love. There is a cease fire in wars and people stop their endless pursuit of power and wealth. We hear and read the age old, "Peace on Earth, good will toward men."

The time has come that this phrase must be repeated every day of the year, not only in words but in action. PEACE ON EARTH, GOOD WILL TOWARD ALL MEN.

200 Births in Area

50 Years Ago
December 26, 1920
J. A. Barber was run over and seriously hurt last Sunday evening by a car driven by Jake Sizemore. The accident occurred in front of Kirby's restaurant on Front Street. As the story goes, Mr. Sizemore was driving east on Front street and just in front of the restaurant, Mr. Barber in attempting to cross the street, stepped in front of the car.

There were 99 deaths and 200 births in Sikeston and vicinity during 1920, according to the records filed with Dr. W. E. Derris, local registrar of vital statistics.

C.H. Denman, editor of The Herald and sons, Paul and Carl, will go to Farmington on December 31, to attend the funeral of the former's father, the Rev. J.H. Denman, who passed away at the home of C.B. Denman there on December 30.

The Rev. Amos K. Clarke of Baxter Springs, Kas., has written the officials of the Sikeston Christian Church that he cannot accept their call to the local pastorate. A desire to keep his daughter in the schools at Baxter Springs and ill health of his wife are given as the reasons for his refusal to accept the call.

Miss Mary Hinchey of Chicago is visiting her mother, Mrs. Sue Hinchey this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Garwood Sharp and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyce were in St. Louis Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leonard Kirk expect to leave December 29 for New Orleans, La., to remain until after the Sugar Bowl game on January 1.

Following a brief funeral service at the Welsh Chapel Thursday morning for Francis Delaney Hudson, aged 82, the body was removed to Desloge, where services were held this afternoon in the Baptist Church, with interment in The Parkview cemetery at Farmington. Mr. Hudson had been ill since he came to Sikeston on November 27 to visit his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Stevens. He died at their home Monday night of complications.

There's a Technique When Turning Down Invitation, Girls

If you are not the most popular girl in class, it may seem unlikely you'll have to turn down an invitation. But girls, it will happen sooner or later. Johnny will have asked you to go to the movies Saturday night and out of the blue, Billy will call for a date the same night.

The temptation is to say, "I'm sorry, Billy, but I've already told Johnny I'll go to the movies with him." Wrong! It may make you feel more in demand to answer that way, but it's bad form and places Billy in the position of having been the loser in the race. The proper way is to say, "I would have liked to go with you, Billy, but I made a previous date."

There is one time when it is proper to tell a boy where you are going. That's if you know you've both been invited to the same party. You can tell him you've already been invited to go with Johnny and that you look forward to seeing him there.

Let's suppose you would really rather have the date with Billy. You've accepted the date with Johnny and you are honor-bound to keep it. That makes sense. Get known as a girl who goes back on her word, and the result can be Saturday nights when nobody calls because you can't be counted on. Besides, it is only fair and you wouldn't want a boy to accept a better date after he'd already made one with you.

Turning down a boy you don't care for and simply don't want to date presents a different problem. You probably don't just want to come out and say you don't like him and refuse to date him. You can be kind by saying you are unfortunately unable to accept without going into any lengthy explanation as to why. If you stay at home, there isn't any problem, and if you should make a date and run into him, you've spared his feelings.

The way in which you handle your "yes" and "no" to requests for dates is an important part of your popularity with the boys. Be honest, fair and dependable.

That's The Law Gun Trap Hoax Costs Owner

By Jack Strauss, L.L.B.

Morris bought a hunting lodge which he immediately insured against fire. He had his own idea, however, how to protect it against burglars. He hung up a sign outside the lodge that warned: "Beware of Trap Guns in Lodge."

Actually, Morris didn't even have a firecracker in the building. The sign was a hoax. But, when the lodge subsequently caught fire, the local firefighters exhibited no intention of questioning the veracity of the sign and permitted the lodge to smolder into a heap of ashes. Thus, when Morris attempted to collect under his fire policy, he was turned down cold.

"You're mad if you think we're going to pay you," he was told. "You scared the firemen away with your sign. Otherwise, they might have saved the building."

"Baloney!" responded Morris. "That sign was intended to keep out burglars and not firemen. Besides, the sign had nothing to do with the policy. Under the policy, if I had a fire, I was to be paid. And, I want to be paid."

The dispute ended up in court. IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you permit cagy Morris to collect?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that the insurance company had not agreed to insure a building where the owner would prevent firemen from extinguishing a fire. And, by putting up the "Beware" sign, noted the judge, Morris had deterred the firefighters from entering the lodge as effectively as if he had stationed armed guards at the door.

Magistrate Hears Five Felony Cases

CHARLESTON — W. Clifton Wilson, $23. A charge of driving while Banta, Sr., special judge in the absence of Judge T. J. Brown, brought a $36 fine to Charles Jr., heard five felony cases in magistrate court.

Floyd Mason and Willie Lee Brown appeared on a felony charge of stealing and waived preliminary hearing in Magistrate Court. They were bound over to Circuit Court to appear at such time as the court shall require and were committed to jail after failing to post the required $1000 bonds. The defendants are accused of burglarizing Cecil's Liquor Store on December 4 and stealing liquor, cigarettes and a gun.

Zola Mae Williams, also charged with stealing in connection with the break in at Cecil's Liquor Store, asked for a preliminary hearing and Judge Banta set December 17 as trial date. She was released on $1000 bond, returnable to court the 17th.

Jimmie Wilson, charged with arson (felony), waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to Circuit Court. Wilson is accused of setting fire to a barn owned by Eugene Fonder on November 2. He was committed to jail after failing to post $1000 bond.

Pete Sanchez, arrested on December 3 and charged with carrying a concealed, dangerous and deadly weapon, waived suit (1966) brought by the state preliminary hearing and was bound over to Circuit Court. He was committed to jail after failing to post a $1000 bond and was committed to jail.

John Cannon was sentenced to sixty days in jail and fined $120.50 on a charge of driving while intoxicated - involved in a one car accident.

Roger McClanahan pleaded innocent to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Judge Banta set December 17 as trial date and the defendant was released on $500 cash bond.

Thomas E. Simmons, charged with driving while intoxicated and driving a motor vehicle while his license was revoked, was fined $119 and sentenced to ninety days in jail.

Speeding charges brought the following fines: Robert Gray, $21; Willie Mabry, $28; and J. C.

Selves Administrator Of Kennett Hospital

KENNETT — Elden S. Selves, insurance representative, has been named administrator of the Dunklin County Memorial Hospital.

The announcement was made today by the hospital board of trustees. Selves will assume his new duties at the hospital as soon as he can wrap up his personal business, a board spokesman said today, possibly within the next two weeks.

Selves, 42, was born at Ewing and was married to Wanda Lou White of Kennett in 1952. They have two children, Stewart Wayne, 14, and Lou Ann, 10.

He graduated from Jackson High School in 1946 and received a B.S. Degree from Southeast Missouri State College in 1950, with a major in mathematics and education.

He taught school in Kennett from 1950 to 1953 and was associated with the accounting firm of Kraft, Miles and Tatum from 1953 to 1968. Selves joined the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co. in 1968. He qualified for the 1969 Squab Club, a sales honor group of the Mutual company.

He served in the Missouri Army National Guard for over 22 years and was commissioned a Reserve Army Officer in April of 1963. He was promoted to first lieutenant in 1956 and to captain in 1963. Selves held various positions and commands with the Guard, ranging from platoon leader to company commander to battalion staff officer. He resigned July 30, 1970.

The new hospital administrator is a past president of the Kennett Jaycees and presently belongs to the Kennett Rotary Club. He is a board member of the Kennett Swim Team Assn., treasurer of the Kennett Country Club, Inc., treasurer of the Kennett Insurance Agency and is presently serving on the Kennett City Council. He is also a member of the First Baptist Church.

The Prayer from The Upper Room

Jesus answered, "...For this I was born, and for this I have come into the world, to bear witness to the truth. Every one who is of the truth hears my voice. (John 18:37, RSV)

PRAYER: Thank You, O God, for the joys of Christmas time, for the happy reunions and the bright eyes of little children. Since Christmas is the beginning only, make us willing to give our all in Your service. Amen.

Trooper's Car Stolen, Burned

Poplar Bluff—A car owned by a state highway patrolman residing in Hayti was stolen and burned Monday night, Troop E Headquarters in Poplar Bluff reported.

A 1968 Ford, which was the personal car of Trooper Clifford Cummins, was stolen Monday night and found abandoned and burned several hours later on a gravel road four miles northwest of Hayti. Trooper Herbert A. Campbell found the car.

Promotions At Bank of New Madrid

New Madrid—Sam L. Hunter Jr., president of the Bank of New Madrid, announced the promotion of three employees at the annual Christmas banquet Friday, at the New Madrid Country Club.

Mrs. Jack Tisher and Mrs. Calvin Hayes were promoted to assistant vice-presidents and Mrs. Pierce (Cleta) Duncan was promoted to assistant cashier.

Mrs. Tisher started with the bank in June of 1945 in the bookkeeping department, where she worked for about four years. From there she was transferred to the loan department as loan clerk and part-time teller. She then became a full-time teller and worked in this capacity for a short time before becoming secretary to Mr. Hunter, a position she has held to the present time.

Mrs. Hayes first began working at the bank in January, 1947, as a bookkeeper. She has also worked as a teller and loan clerk. In 1964 Mrs. Hayes was promoted to bookkeeping supervisor and is still serving in that capacity.

Mrs. Duncan began her banking career in 1947 at the Bank of Hayti as a bookkeeper and teller. She came to the Bank of New Madrid in 1952 as a bookkeeper. Since that time she has also worked in all the various departments of the bank. She is presently secretary to Executive Vice-President Charles E. Palmer.

Recreation Panel Formed

EAST PRAIRIE — A city park and recreation commission, formed to plan and execute a long range program for improvement and additional recreational facilities for the city, has been appointed by the city council.

Serving on the commission are: David Brumley, Jones Hedge, Mrs. Carey Johnson, Mrs. Ray Melton and James Bruce, Jr. Ex Officio members are City Manager James Wilson and Mayor Lloyd Hogan.

The Council approved a $500 donation from the city to the Mississippi County Recreation Association. The project, which will benefit the entire county, was endorsed by the council, who feel that a closer working relationship between East Prairie and Charleston may result in progress in other areas.

An increased in electrical rates from the Missouri Utilities Co. was not approved by the council, who issued the following statement: "The users of electric power are paying franchise taxes at this time; For this reason the City Board of Councilmen feel the increase should not be approved by the city."

The council issued the following statement concerning access roads to the public housing sites A and B: "We do hereby verify that streets to the project contract limits on sites A and B, which are to be built by the city, are to be built at no cost to the local housing authority."

City Manager James Wilson informed the board he is contacting hospitals in efforts to obtain a doctor for the city. The council agreed to pay $44 per year dues for the managers membership in the International City Managers Association.

In other business the board approved expenditures in the amount of $5881.92 for the month of November; collector's report totaling $25,734.31; Police Judge report showing $510 following fines assessed during the month, and Christmas bonus of $10 each to the city employees.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Saturday, Dec. 26, the 360th day of 1970. There are five days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1776, in the Revolutionary War, George Washington's troops defeated the Hessians in a surprise attack at Trenton, N.J.

On this date: In 1805, France and Austria signed the Peace of Pressburg, with Italy annexing Venice.

In 1865, James Naughton of Franklin, Mass. was granted a patent for the first coffee percolator in the U.S.

In 1941, in World War II, Gen. Douglas MacArthur declared the Philippine capital of Manila an open city.

Also in 1941, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill addressed the U.S. Congress and declared: "If we had kept together after the last war, if we had taken common measures for our safety, this renewal of the curse need never have fallen upon us."

In 1943, a British destroyer sank the German battleship "Scharnhorst" off the coast of Norway.

In 1944, Soviet troops completed the encirclement of Budapest, Hungary.

Ten years ago — President elect John F. Kennedy met with key advisers at Palm Beach, Fla., on plans to expand the U.S. space program.

Five years ago — The U.S. refrained from renewed bombing of North Vietnam although a Christmas cease-fire had ended.

Warn of Ad

Sales Scheme

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Thomas Edwards, secretary-treasurer of Teamsters Local 574, today warned Cape Girardeau and neighboring community businesses to question the reputation of anyone attempting to solicit advertising for any kind of union publication.

His concern arose Wednesday after receiving a call from management personnel at Kasten Brick Co., who told him a man using the name of "Ray Stevens" had inquired at the company soliciting ads for the "log and time books," which the seller said was a publication of the Teamsters Union.

"We don't have anything like that," Edwards said, "and we will not tolerate any such sales." The Teamsters official said the man first asked $125 for an ad, "but since things were bad" lowered his price to $100.

Edwards noted that such solicitation, particularly to businesses under contract with the Teamsters, can tend to "scare a lot of management" into purchasing the fraudulent advertising.

Edwards said official Teamsters publications do not accept advertising.

Kasten Brick Co. saved itself a loss by contacting the Teamsters office and Edwards urges anyone experiencing such incidents to do the same.

Larger Outlays for Newspaper Career Aid

PRINCETON, N.J. — The Newspaper Fund, a foundation which encourages careers in newspaper journalism, announced today its 1971 program which includes increased scholarships for college students who wish to work during the summer months as newspaper interns, and summer workshops for high school journalism teachers and publications advisers.

For the first time since The Newspaper Fund began awarding scholarships to college students in 1969, the amount of the grants has been increased.

College juniors who are appointed Editing Interns for 1971 will receive $700 scholarships instead of the $500 grants previously awarded. The Editing Intern Program involves nine weeks of work for 60 students who will work as copyeditors for participating newspapers. The actual internship will follow a three-week training course in advanced editing. Each student completing the summer of work and study will receive the $700 scholarship in September, 1971.

Each of the Editing Interns will be assigned in January to one of the four regional Fullerton, Calif.; and Northern Arizona University, Flagstaff, Temple University, Philadelphia; Each workshop will involve Ohio State University, Columbus; University of Nebraska, Lincoln; and University of Nevada, Reno.

A second internship program, the Reporting Intern Program, involves 12 weeks of work for college juniors who work as reporters for daily newspapers during the summer months. Scholarships awarded under this program each will be $500. Winners in this program will be announced before Christmas, and the awards will be made in September, 1971.

In both the Editing and Reporting programs, interns are paid regular wages by the hiring newspapers. Since 1960, more than 1,100 college students have received Newspaper Fund intern scholarships.

The oldest of The Newspaper Fund's efforts, the high school journalism teacher training programs, will continue in 1971 with five workshops, each lasting two weeks. Inexperienced high school newspaper advisers will attend workshops at the University of Bridgeport, Bridgeport, Conn.; Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C.; Seattle University, Seattle, Wash.; University of California, College, Fullerton, Calif.; and Northern Arizona University, Flagstaff, Ariz.

Approximately 60 students attend the Summer School.

Continuation of an Urban Journalism Workshop Program for inner-city high school students who have interests in journalism and who have writing skills. Proposals for these 1971 program are currently being received by The Newspaper Fund, and the announcement of approximately 20 high school teachers who will be given instruction on ways to produce effective student newspapers. The teachers also will be given complete information about journalism career opportunities so they can present timely materials to their top students who are interested in careers in the news.

Since the programs for high school publications advisers and journalism teachers began in 1959, more than 5,500 individuals have received training under Newspaper Fund grants.

Other 1971 programs approved by The Newspaper Fund are:

A grant to The Blair Summer School For Journalism at Blair Academy, Blairstown, New Jersey. This summer program for outstanding high school journalists provides intensive training in various phases of journalism, with newspaper training emphasized. Approximately 60 students attend the Summer School.

Continuation of an Urban Journalism Workshop Program for inner-city high school students who have interests in journalism and who have writing skills. Proposals for these 1971 program are currently being received by The Newspaper Fund, and the announcement of grants will be made in February.

Continuation of intensive career literature and career film programs currently operated by The Fund, and continuation of the annual "special awards" program which is climaxed by the naming of the high school Journalism Teacher of the Year each October. The Editor-In-Residence Program, which is co-sponsored with the American Society of Newspaper Editors and the Association for Education in Journalism, will also be continued in 1971.

A grant to the University of Nebraska for the final stage of a three-year effort to intensify college-level training in newspaper copyediting. This Creative Editing Program grant will be matched by funds from Nebraska newspapers.

The Newspaper Fund is a foundation of Dow Jones and Company, publisher of The Wall Street Journal, The National Observer, Barron's National Business and Financial Weekly, and the Dow Jones News Service.

Since The Fund was founded in December, 1968, more than $3 million in contributions have been received from Dow Jones to support programs designed to encourage more talented young people to enter careers in newspaper work.

SHOW & TELL

Having thoroughly stuffed basic theme. Perhaps it's my lack myself with turkey, ham, and all of intelligence or something, but of the other tasty morsels served I just didn't feel satisfied when I during the holiday season, I took left the theater.

There are over 20 flashbacks that keep you in a daze throughout the entire two hours that you couldn't possibly get to review and I'm not sure I'm much out of the movie.

The movie does have heaps of When I first entered the chuckles, it's funny and a little Malco, I was very optimistic, dirty and a little sad, but just The movie has a line-up that when you really think you includes Alan Arkin, Paula are understanding what's going Prentiss, Art Garfunkel, etc, and on-wham-flashback and you're that is a pretty fair amount of lost again.

I realize that I may be too talent, but Mike Nichols, the director of the flick took and critical of the movie and if so I apologize, but that's the way I ruined it.

The movie is so confusing that saw it to say P.S. — There is a it would take an expert in the to say P.S. — There is a art of interpretation or a mind super-nude scene with Paula reader simply to understand the Prentiss if anyone is interested.

Frankly Speaking

BAN ON CIGARETTE ADS — "Additional evidence A law passed by Congress last substantiates the previous year aimed at improving our findings that cigarette smoking is health and the health of our the main cause of lung cancer in children by discouraging men. Cigarette smoking is cigarette smoking becomes casually related to lung cancer in effective New Year's Day.

As of that day all cigarette advertising will be banned from television and radio. The purpose of advertising, of course, is to sell a product by making it sound so desirable you want to buy it. Thus cigarette ads have offered a clearly one-sided view of smoking.

They have depicted smoking as an enjoyable activity and have completely ignored the very serious health hazards that go with the habit.

The ads seem to say that cigarette smoking is like a visit to a waterfall, a run through the fields on a spring day, or being in love.

FACTS ARE DIFFERENT The facts are very different. Just look at these excerpts from the reports of the Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare to the Congress:

"Cigarette smoking can contribute to the development of cardiovascular disease and particularly death from coronary heart disease."

"It — cigarette smoking — greatly increases the risk of dying not only from chronic bronchitis but from pulmonary emphysema."
